COTTON.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Sept. 14.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 13 to 25 points today, with January selling at 15.82 right after the call, or 22 points above last night's close. Firmness in Liverpool, the bullish domestic consumption feature of the report, issued by the Census Bureau for August, and report of a firm tone in the Southern cotton market seemed to inspire a renewal of yesterday's buying movement.

NOT CAMPAIGN IN ONSLOW COUNTY

Democrats There Want Big Speakers in the Fray—Educator for Amendments

(By M. M. Capps.)

Dispatch News Bureau, Jacksonville, N. C., Sept. 13.

If the wishes of local Democratic leaders amount to anything and their energy is rewarded voters of Onslow county will have the pleasure during this campaign of hearing speeches from some of the most able men of the United States. Senator F. M. Simmons and Hon. Claude Kitchen have been invited through request of the State chairman to come and make speeches. The local committee has reason to believe that if the chairman can see his way clear the two distinguished gentlemen will come. Supt. Walter Thompson of the Board of Education of Onslow county is one of the best superintendents of the State and president of the Southeastern North Carolina Association of County Superintendents, was asked by the writer whether or not he would support the proposed amendments to the constitution and stated that he certainly would. Mr. Thompson believed that the amendments would carry easily if the voters could be made to understand the intent.

A company representing Radcliffe Chautauqua Company will be here the 22nd, 23rd and 25th of this month. This will be the first visit here of such a company and the promoters and guarantors urge the citizens to patronize the movement that it may return next fall.

The Jacksonville Graded and High School will open the 1916-1917 term on September 25th, with a faculty consisting of nine teachers. The opening is later this year than usual, due to the fact that fever is more prevalent here during the month of September than any other time of the year and this, it was observed, each year interfered with the school work. It is believed that this will be one of the greatest years in the history of the school and preparations have been made for several entertainments and musicales during the term. The faculty consists of Prof. Isaac M. Bailey, principal, English and Physics; Miss Mary Cole, of Carthage, Latin; Miss Gertrude Caraway, of New Bern, History, French and Science; Misses Louise Whitley, of Albemarle, and Mabel Barrett, of Rocky Mount, teachers of Intermediate grades; Miss Virginia Franks, of Richlands, and Mrs. I. M. Bailey, teachers of primary grade; Miss Mary Kornegay, of Mount Olive, will have charge of the music department, while Miss Inge Newman, of Raleigh, will instruct the voice and expression students.

Hon. Cameron Morrison, who will address the voters of Onslow county here at 12 o'clock Saturday, September 23rd, will that evening, at 7:30 o'clock, speak to the citizens of the town of Swansboro. Mr. Morrison will go from here to Swansboro by auto. A large crowd is expected to hear Mr. Morrison at Onslow's seaport town.

Members of the Presbyterian church have recently had their building painted which greatly beautifies and adds to the attractiveness of same. The denomination, although small in numbers here, are doing a great work and are fast gaining in numbers. Mr. R. L. McKinnon, of Pollockville, is pastor.

Already local hunters are preparing for a great season of hunting and news from the hunting district are to the effect that there is an abundance of game. The season for game in this county opens October 15 and closes March 19, so that it is a month before actual hunting may begin. Each year there is a number of non-resident hunters who come here and they are required to pay a license tax of $10. Farmers are now beginning to bring their cotton to town to have it ginned and from now on the busy season will be on. Sabiston Brothers, owners of the local cotton gin, will begin running Monday morning, having taken this week to get their machinery in first-class shape.

CARE OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

Persistent Massaging of Affected Muscles Advised.

"Is there anything that can be done for a child who has had infantile paralysis and who has been left a cripple?" To this question asked of the State Board of Health the following reply is given:

"Such can be done through persistent massaging of the affected muscles. A prominent physician of this country says that by manipulation, if begun in time, shrinking of the limbs can often be prevented. The time to begin the manipulation of the affected limbs is as soon as the temperature returns to normal. In mild cases it is possible to begin massage within two weeks of the onset of the disease; in more severe cases it should not be begun until after the tender stage is passed, but it should not be deferred later than three months.

"A few years ago it was taught that if the case had been neglected for six months there was no hope of improvement. The teaching of the present time is that intelligent, persistent, patient, passive motion, manipulation, massage and muscle training will greatly improve some cases that have been neglected for years. There is no magic about the treatment; only patient, persistent manipulation of the affected muscles will get results."

Fort Won't Retract.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Henry Ford, through counsel, filed in the District of Columbia Supreme Court his answer in the $100,000 libel suit brought against him by the Navy League of the United States on account of a newspaper advertisement impugning the motives of the league and its officers in their preparedness propaganda.

Mr. Ford does not retract the statements complained of, but declares he had reason to believe they were true, and that they had been published broadcast throughout the country and made often in Congress without bringing a denial from the league, so far as he knew. He points out that he voluntarily accepted service in the suit, in spite of the advice of counsel that he was not obliged to do so.

May I see Lieutenant Barker, please?

"May I see Lieutenant Barker, please," she asked at the hospital. She was very pretty.

"We don't allow anyone but relatives to see the patients. Are you a member of his family?" asked the matron.

"Why, yes," she answered blushing. Then boldly: "Why, I am his sister."

"Oh, really," answered the matron. "I am so glad to meet you! I am the lieutenant's mother."—Exchange.

16,340 TABLES SLAIN, AUCTION LIST REVEALS

New York, Sept. 14.—If your new muff should begin to mew in wet weather or should show a disposition to flee from the dog, it means the fur is that of one of the 16,340 house cats which have vanished only to reappear yesterday in the catalogues of the fur auction held this week at No. 46 West Twenty-fourth street.

Dealers who have come from far and near to buy some of the 995,686 skins admitted that the cat market, which was poor after the war cut off exports to Germany and Austria for coat lining, had been revived by fashions in trimming.

They also advised hunters in the alleys to try for the black cats. A regular hallowe'en witch cat has been known to bring $2, they said; blue Maltese cats, imported in large quantities from Holland, bring $1 or more, but a calico cat, no matter how variegated or a tiger, probably would fetch only 15 cents.

More than half of the skins listed by the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation are muskrat. Last on the list come 75,000 skunk skins.

BELGIAN TOWN IS HEAVILY FINED

(By Associated Press.)

The Hague, Netherlands, Sept. 14.—The Belgian town of Liere, has been fined 50,000 marks because, on the occasion of the recent national fête, some of its inhabitants had hoisted a big Belgian tricolor on the top of an oak tree. In order to de-top the tree against German assaults they had surrounded it with barbed wire.

PRESS LEGISLATIVE BODIES IN MEETING

(By Associated Press.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 14.—The committees on legislation of the North Carolina Press Association, the North Carolina Association of Afternoon Newspapers and the Western North Carolina Press Association were here today to discuss, at a joint meeting, legislation desired by the press of the state. It was expected that the first step towards drawing up bills to be presented to the legislature would be taken.

Changes in the law affecting legal advertising, it was said, are especially desired.

Prospects were that a meeting would not be held until late this afternoon, as several members of the committees will be unable to reach here before that time.
