

THEATRE

Again are we to have the pleasure of having clever Bert Leigh and charming Hazel Burgess in a new offering, namely, "The Girl Who Smiles," which had the pleasant experience of being heard at the Longacre Theatre, New York, for six months. It comes from the hands of the composers of "Alma" and "Adele," and they have once more made a most tuneful score.

For the present English version Adolf Philipp, who first introduced to New York audiences the work of Paul Herve and Jean Briquet, is again responsible, with the assistance of Edward A. Paulson.

That reminiscent quality which pervades the music is equally apparent in the book. We have again the Latin Quarter, the impetuous artists, their friends the models, the insistent landlord, the improvised meals and that hectic gaiety of Bohemia borrowed from Murger Du Maurier and others and serving again as a background for a sentimental story about the rich girl who has no smiles in her life and is taught by the Bohemians the joy of living.

There are many moments of humor and of wit. "Must an artist die before he can make a living?" asks the rich girl. "It's a custom of the trade," answers the elegant landlord. "They live for the pawnbroker and die for the dealer."

Miss Burgess essays the title role, and one of her numbers, "Teach Me To Smile," is winning her many rounds of applause. Bert Leigh as a chef who is inclined to organize all and everybody into his cooks union, is most humorous.

The supporting company is a splendid one, and the chorus is a feast for the eye and their singing a delight to the ear. The same splendid equipment that graced the stage of Longacre Theatre will be seen here tomorrow matinee and night at the Academy of Music.

The bargain matinee prices are 25 cents for balcony seats and 50 cents for any seat on the lower floor. Children, 25 cents to any seat. Night prices will be from 50 cents to $1. Tickets are selling at Elvington's.

"NOBODY HOME."

Guy Bolton and Paul Rubens, librettists, and Jerome Kern, composer, are very liable to be ostracized and black balled by all their fellow craftsmen if they are not more careful hereafter. In John P. Slocum's decidedly smart and winning musical comedy "Nobody Home," they have absolutely had the temerity and daring to depart from the timeworn and threadbare tracks of musical comedy composition and write something really new and original. They are so utterly different from everybody else that it is positively startling. Of course this is very nice for the public and explains why "Nobody Home" is such a big financial and artistic success everywhere, but the other composers and writers will not like it. The pace will make them work for their royalties now. "Nobody Home" will be the attraction at the Academy of Music matinee and night on next Wednesday, November 22.

The popular matinee prices will be 50 cents, 75 cents and $1, with a few seats at $1.50. The night prices will range from 50 cents to $2. Tickets will go on sale at Elvington's Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

FARMER IS HAPPY AND TELLS ABOUT A CHANGE IN WIFE

I. J. Borden of Wilmington R. F. D. Says He Wouldn't Take $25.00 For The First 3 Bottles of Tanlac He Bought.

"I wouldn't take $25.00 for the first three bottles of Tanlac, if I couldn't get it any cheaper, as it is the only medicine that has done my wife any good," said I. J. Borden, well known farmer of R. F. D., this city, during a recent talk with the Tanlac Man at the Bellamy Drug Store.

"Yes, sir," the happy rural man continued, "Mrs. Borden has not only gained five pounds in weight from Tanlac, but she has gained a great deal in strength, for her appetite is as good as ever—she can eat anything she wants now without it disagreeing with her. Her back is better, and all the pains have left her. And her complexion has cleared up and she is really like a different woman."

"Before taking Tanlac, however, my wife had suffered for three years from poor health. Her kidneys bothered her every night and she suffered from pains in her back. Her complexion was bad, and she was very weak and nervous and subject to attacks of indigestion. Very often she was compelled to take to bed because of her condition. She had a poor appetite and was losing weight right along, and felt bad all the time." Here Mr. Borden smiles his thanks to the Tanlac Man and, after bidding good-bye, started for home with his fourth bottle of Tanlac.

Genuine Tanlac is sold in Wilmington, exclusively at the Bellamy Drug Store, where its merits are explained daily to health seekers by the Tanlac Man; Acme, Acme Store Co.; Burgaw, C. L. Halstead; Southport, Watson's Pharmacy; Rocky Point, A. N. Rhodes; Supply, G. W. Kirby; New Bern, Bradham Drug Co.; Magnolia, W. L. Southall; Faison, Faison Drug Co.; Pembroke, G. W. Locklear; Snow Hill, J. T. H. Harper; Vineland, R. B. McRoy & Co.; Whiteville, J. A. McNeill & Son; Verona, G. W. Humphrey. Each town has its Tanlac dealer.—adv't.

"The Little Minister," in which Maude Adams is to be seen at the Academy of Music on next Thursday, November 23. As Lady Babbie, clad in Gypsy dress, comes singing through the woods, she is introduced to the audience. Then for the acts which follow, one is under the spell of this young woman's varying moods, some winsome, some gay, some artless, others artful some sympathetic and all with the light of pure fun in her eyes. It is small wonder that Gavin Dishart, the sturdy young minister of the little kirk in Thrums, could not resist the allurements of her pretty ways. And how she does tease the young divine! One of the prettiest scenes in the comedy comes in the last act when Lady Babbie endeavors to wheedle her irascible old father out of his rage into good-humored consent to her marriage. The last scene shows Mr. Barrie's humor playing through human nature. The comedy is proving even more popular now than when it was first given in this country by its attractive star.

The prices will range from 50 cents (gallery) to $2. Tickets will go on sale Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, at Elvington's.

LIONEL BARRYMORE TOMORROW Lionel Barrymore, the gifted dramatic artist who brought such capacity crowds upon his first reappearance at the Royal three weeks ago, comes again tomorrow through a fortunate booking arrangement, and in response to many requests for the booking of another subject in which he is starred. "Give us every Lionel Barrymore picture you can get," exclaimed one lady after seeing his last one.

Tomorrow this exceptional artist stars in "The Quitter," a remarkable five-act Metro Wonderplay, in which he plays a role excelling all past performances, in a picture of splendid power, and a great cast that includes Edward Brennan and Marguerite Skirvin, a charming and talented young woman new to the Metro program, who plays opposite Mr. Barrymore.

The story of "The Quitter" is laid in a Southwestern mining town, where scores of thrilling scenes are enacted. It was originally planned to photograph the scenes on the American-Mexican border, but when the company of players went there they were advised to leave on account of the disturbance in that quarter. Director Charles Horan was obliged to bring his company back up North and seek a suitable location. He found exactly what he wanted near Delaware Water Gap, Pa., and there he constructed an entire mining town.

Among some of the interesting and picturesque scenes in "The Quitter," are the "Three Cheers" saloon and a typical Western courtroom, with a big trial in progress. Mr. Horan used many real Western types, including Indians, cowboys, half-breeds and Chinese. These genuine types were brought out of the Southwest by the director. Mr. Barrymore has one of the best parts of his career in "The Quitter."

MISS MAUDE ADAMS Who, With Her Entire Company and New York Production, Will Be Seen at the Academy of Music Thursday Night of Next Week.

AGAIN FUNNY CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Tomorrow at the Grand will be presented one of the most elaborate Charlie Chaplin comedy satires of the year, a magnificent four-reel production, occupying exactly one hour of time to show, and being a review of the past life on the screen of the great comedian. The title is "The Mixup," and it stars with Charlie all of these old Keystone favorites—Mabel, Fatty, Walrus, Ambrose, and even the inimitable and renowned Mack Sennett.

In "The Mixup" will be seen all of those great hits of comedy which have made Chaplin famous. For this picture he enacts all of the greatest stunts he has ever pulled off, and it results in a solid hour of such Chaplin antics as you have never before seen on the screen.

"The Mixup" will be enjoyed as few Chaplin releases of the past few weeks have been enjoyed, and as it is in four solid reels, giving patrons a solid hour of Chaplin enjoyment and laughs, it should draw capacity crowds.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Adv't.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN Appearing in the Four-Reel Release, "The Mix-Up," at the Grand Tomorrow.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv't.

Conquers Rheumatism In a Very Few Days

It is an established fact that one-half teaspoonful of Rheuma taken once a day has driven the pain and agony from thousands of racked, crippled and despairing rheumatics during the last five years.

Powerful and sure; quick acting, yet harmless; Rheuma gives blessed relief almost at once. The magic name has reached every hamlet in the land and there is hardly a druggist anywhere who cannot tell you of almost marvelous cures.

If you are tortured with rheumatism or sciatica, you can get a bottle of Rheuma from R. R. Bellamy or any druggist for not more than 50 cents, with the understanding that if it does not completely drive rheumatic poisons from your system—money back—Adv't.

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE LAME BACK

Rub Backache Away With Small Trial Bottle of Old, Penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Linger up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.—Adv't.

MY BELIEF IN THE BLUEBIRD'S INSPIRATION

I have been so very, very busy at the studios lately working on a picture that it has been utterly impossible for me to get out to the waters home every evening, dearly as I would love to. In fact, my Mother insisted that we take rooms in a hotel and go out to the beach during the week-ends and my holidays that I consented.

And now let me tell you about the bluebird room I have had as our living room at the hotel. It is large, with a number of windows overlooking the bay. All the hangings and cretonne covers on the walls are for the most part have the wing pattern, are marked with the bluebird. Just dear little birds in flying poses! Even the writing pad on the table has corners of the cretonne.

Of course you all know that bluebirds mean happiness, and I feel of you to enter my sitting room at the hotel without leaving a thought without. Every day we have fresh flowers supplied; and the canopy light so it would not be lonely during the week sings in a white wicker chair at the sunny window.

The most wonderful part of it is that you would never in the world think of it as a hotel room. It reminds you of a trim little suburban bungalow far away from the noise and bustle of the city. In fact, I forget the traffic-filled streets beneath our windows until some piercing automobile horn breaks in upon my thoughts and brings me back to the work-a-day world.

If you saw Maeterlinck's play, "The Bluebird," you know how the girl and boy traveled all over the world—in all sorts of fairy lands, in search of the bluebird that was said to give happiness to those who owned it, and then returning from their fruitless tour they discovered the bird abiding in their own humble home.

In other words, dear friends, happiness may be found anywhere if you look for it in the right way, and that's why I have made a home to me thought by having bluebird cretonne in my living room—a constant reminder of the happiness which is everybody's privilege to possess.
