Health and Hygiene

HEALTH CONDITIONS IMPROVING IN THE SOUTH.

We Insurance Companies Recognize Vast Improvements.

That the South, North Carolina, of course, included, is really getting somewhere as a result of its health work is attested to by more than health workers and vital statistics figures. The Insurance Herald-Argus, of Atlanta, says:

"For many years life insurance companies have been inclined to look upon the South as a field to be cultivated lightly, if at all, basing their action upon the undeniable fact that insufficient attention was given to the betterment of vital conditions among the population as a whole. Of late, however, a new era has set in, and from being one of the worst sections of the country, vitally considered, the South bids fair to become one of the * very best."

North Carclina, it will be recalled has the lowest death rate of any state on the Atlantic coast, and is second only to some of the western states.

The Herald-Argus says again: "During the annual meeting of the Southern Medical Association held recently in Atlanta, the fact that health conditions in this part of the country have been vastly improved in recent years was strongly accentuated. Almost every number on the program of Sally Nickel the one-year-old great-addresses inclinics offered convincalive at the death of the late cattle changing and the progress of the medking's three grandchildren she will ical profession in the South is having become the richest woman in Califor- its due effect upon the vitality of the nia.
