STATE OFFICERS WANT A RAISE.

Those who serve the state of North Carolina want a raise in pay, and it is intimated that some of them are making their wants known viva voce though it may not be of very stentorian nature. Still there are people who are on the inside, but who are going to get on the outside, who have taken up the cudgel and are advocating an increase. These folks can hardly be accused of being prompted by selfish ends and, possessing knowledge of the workings, should make good witnesses for the raise proposition. Colonel Arrington, now connected with the State treasury department, but who is to depart in a few days to enter business for himself, comes forth as one, tried and true, to advocate an increase and not only predicates his argument upon the increased cost of living, but cites a compilation of figures to show wherein his contention is right and the size of the pay of state's servants wrong. By this comparison he shows that many states are paying their officials salaries greatly in excess of what North Carolina pays. In some of these states, however, we suppose the burden is heavier, on account of the states being larger and richer, but the comparison is largely against North Carolina at that.

In addition to Colonel Arrington's plea and argument there is strong chance that Governor Craig's farewell message may deal with this question and advocate a raise for the State's officials.

So it would seem that the general assembly will have the case to consider and it begins to appear that unless there is evidence to the contrary, that has as yet not appeared, an increase should be granted. There are too extremes in this matter. One a salary that while apparently large is still not large enough to fit the office and, therefore, can hardly prove sufficient for the ability required. Of course, there is honor to such offices and that is why there are always plenty of candidates. Yet is this not apt to bar the poor man?

The other extreme is pay so small for lesser lights in the State's service that they have a difficult time living, and a glance at Colonel Arrington's figures will show that some of the most important assistants get decidedly small salaries.

There is a difference, in our opinion, between salaries in private business and salaries in public office—barring the campaign being conducted in the mountain metropolis, in behalf of the Australian ballot system, citing what he knows about the system as it has applied to this city and county. The folks of Asheville can accept Mr. Roger's testimony not as mere theory, or hearsay evidence, but as personal knowledge, gained from experience. Of course, the Australian ballot system is not a form of government, but is protection for the form of government. We reiterate our opinion that it is the "safety first" of politics.

It may offend the pride of the Nipponese to think that somehow no one has yet taken into consideration that Japan is in the war and no one has consulted her about peace, or peace terms. Evidently some one, several someones, have been decidedly thoughtless, or bravely do not fear the "yellow peril."

YEAR AGO TODAY IN WAR.

December 30, 1915.—British passenger steamer Persia sunk without warning in the Mediterranean; Russians made furious attacks on Austrian front in Galicia; Allies made new landings on Greek coast; Vienna claimed Italians were defeated in the Tyrol; aeroplane raids at Salonica and severe bombardment at Dardanelles.

With the United States it is different. This country is beyond reach of the material anger of the entente or central powers and is mighty enough to meet a clash. But there is more than that. It occupies a strong position in trade relations, in a monetary way, and so the European countries that cannot override it, have everything to lose by offending the United States.

That is why this country has to be a leader, and why too much should not be expected of the European neutrals, which, naturally, have no desire to become martyrs. They would not help the cause of peace, but would rather aid the lurid, disastrous and unholy aim of war by sacrificing themselves.

NATIVE TROOPS ARE NOT AS HARDY.

Near Verdun, Dec. 30.—Native troops from the French colonies are not so hardy as white soldiers from the cities and villages of France, according to the chief surgeon of the great field hospital here. He said: "The opinion has been very generally prevalent throughout the world that the semi-civilized races are harder than the civilized white races. This idea, however, has been proved fallacious. I myself, since the beginning of the war, have treated some thousands of wounded men and have found in general that the white race can support pain without complaint better than any colored race. We have had here cases of all kinds and I have been able to prove that not only our peasants, who form such a large part of our army, but the inhabitants of our big cities, are as naturally healthy and amenable to surgical and medical treatment as the men of any race which lives under primitive conditions. Observation of the effects of contact with dirt upon wounds proves that natives suffer from gangrene, peritonitis and blood-poisoning just as much as white men. At the same time their complaints when they are suffering pain are much greater than those of white men."

CAN'T LOSE HAIR.

Twenty Years From Today a Baldheaded Man Will Be an Unusual Sight. One of the most prominent druggists of America made a statement a few weeks ago which has caused a great deal of discussion among scientists in the medical press. He said: "If the new hair grower, Mildredina Hair Remedy increases its sales as it has during the past year, it will be used by nearly every man, woman and child in America within eight years."

"When Mildredina Hair Remedy is used almost universally, dandruff will disappear and with its departure baldness, itching scalp, splitting hair and all scalp diseases will follow and twenty years from now a bald head will be a rarity."

There is only one way to cure dandruff, and that is to kill the germs. There is only one hair preparation that will kill the germs and that is Mildredina Hair Remedy. This unusual hair restorer with its record of thousands of cures will grow hair on any head where there is any life left; it will cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching of the scalp in three weeks or money back.
