The annual dinner to the survivors of Company E. 20th North Carolina regiment, C. S. A., from Duplin county, was given the other day. An account of the entertainment says that six of the surviving thirteen members of the company were present. This emphasizes the sad fact that in the course of a very few years there will be none left of the old men in grey.

When some young men are drafted for military service they immediately get mighty solicitous about the welfare of wife and babies. We heard of one young man who was putting in claim for exemption on the ground that he had a wife and child to support when his father-in-law, who was present, interrupted the claimant with the remark: "Young man, I support-fitting. ed the girl you speak of a good many years before you laid eyes on her. and I guess I can do so again, while you are away, if it is for the good of the country that you go." The claim for exemption was dropped.
