Amok, graduate head hunter, has lost his appetite. The old pepper is gone and he isn't taking any interest in his work as a wild man in his Bolo cage at Coney Island.

He champs menacingly at his chains and shakes the bars of his cage as he promises. But poor Amok's appetite is not in the chopping or shaking. The white man's vaunted civilization has done its worst.

The once wild cat-emerald head hunter who roamed the Bontoc mountain provinces in far away Luzon, jumping from crag to crag, hot on the trail of his ancient enemy, has been shot. And he doesn't want to be shot. He has taken all the starch out of him. He wants to drink Coney Island beer instead of Teutonic blood.

He has told the exemption board that he has a big family to support and he does not want to go to that brutal old war at all.

WEST LEADING IN ATHLETICS. New York, Sept. 13.—Unexpected fervor with which Western athletes entered into the A. A. U. games at St. Louis recently, the splendid form they showed, the able tennis played by Westerners at Forest Hills, and the fact that Western colleges have led the way in keeping football in the curriculum of sports declare more strongly than anything else could that the West has turned from the East for its athletic guide and is going it alone.

The athletic world is being physically centered in the East. The big football games, the big track meets, even the world's series were pulled off on the Atlantic seaboard.

There was a strong attempt early in the summer to divert the Olympic games under which St. Louis was laboring in order to stage the annual A. A. U. games and there was a concerted effort to remove the games from the Missouri metropolis back to the East. It failed when the St. Louis sports lovers went into the fight with both feet and held the scales.

The fight was a commendable thing in the fact that so many athletes, most of them Westerners, by the way, attended was a most encouraging thing to the West.

There are so many persons living in the East that the West gets little consideration in most things. The big games in this section are able to draw from a vastly larger population, and consequently more profitably.

It now appears that Chicago will get the American League end of this year's world's series, thus adding another sparkling feature to brilliant year for the West. The biggest kind of football is going to be almost exclusive sport for a brilliant year.

While the West is over and sports begin again to take their regular turn with everything else, the West is going to have something more to say than has been granted in recent past years.

HEALTH AND HYGIENE

KEEPING JOHNNY WELL AT SCHOOL

Teacher His Guardian Angel—Parents and School Commissioners Also Responsible.

"Every child in school is a good educational slogan," says the State Board of Health, "but his being there is not all there is to the matter. His going to be expected to meet the demands of the class for six, eight or more months, and at the end of the term to be advanced to the next grade.

Physically as well as mentally and at the end of the school to be as robust and healthy as the day he started. This is as it should be," says the board, "but to make it so is about the biggest problem the schools now have before them.

"In the present scheme of keeping Johnny well while he is in school," continues the board, "the teacher, as usual, is considered his guardian angel. She is supposed not only to aid the medical inspector when he arrives for his annual inspection, if the school is so fortunate as to have this work, but she is expected to be acquainted with and to recognize the approach of the various contagious diseases. She is expected to be able to denote any defect or deformity that may be impairing Johnny's health or hindering his education. Furthermore, she is expected not only to notify the child's parents of any condition or disease that needs treatment, but to be instrumental in getting the treatment that is needed. She is already required to teach hygiene and sanitation and is expected to so apply it in reference to the pupils, the school-room and the environments of the school, that sickness shall not come near during the term.

"But Johnny's health and education are matters too important," says the board, "for the parents and school commissioners not to take active interest in its protection. The teacher cannot safeguard the health of all Johnny's and Mary's without their support. If their school is not to have medical school inspection under the new State law this year, can they afford to wait one or perhaps two years before their children shall have this attention? The board advises that parents and school authorities do not allow their children's health to suffer while they wait for the medical school inspection work provided by the State.

Thousands of persons daily hurry past the corner of Broadway and Madison Lane and in their haste fail to observe that they are literally walking on time. They glance at the clock in the doorway of the Singer Building or the familiar clock face in St. Paul's church steeple.

The timepiece in the vault light on the sidewalk is stepped on and over unconsciously, although it is there to give the information which the hurrying folk are seeking. The clock has a square white face with black hands and numerals.

It occupies a space about ten by eighteen inches in front of a jewelry store. A heavy piece of plate glass protects it from traffic and the weather. It has been there for about 15 years.

Nat Goodwin is going to appear in the piece entitled, "Why Marry?" and the number of jests which will be based on that fact threaten to run into the thousands before the first of October. In fact Nat probably appreciated the value of the publicity that would accrue in selecting the title.
