A possible self-defense plea was indicated by Sturm's contention that Moutos got hold of the broken bottle 1-2 and that he was afraid he would cut the throats of himself and the woman. The bottle had already been brok-+ en over the Greek's head, according 1-2 to Sturm's own testimony. The evidence of the man and woman disagreed at two points, Sturm swearing 3-4 that Moutos was still "very much -4 alive" and that he sat on the body until they left the room, while the 1.4 girl stated that the Greek was 1-4 "still" and lying face down when they left. Sturm swore that he told Phillips on the way to Dunn that Moutos 1-8 was not hurt much but the woman stated that she told the chauffeur "she feared for the worse."

"Not a sick cow since feeding Buckeye Hulls"

Mr. A. Thompson, Kennesaw, Ga., runs a dairy. He has been feeding fifty head of stock with Buckeye Hulls for the past year. He says that he has not had a sick cow in all that time.

agree with cattle. They do not clog or flux the digestive tract. When wet, they combine perfectly with other feed, insuring forage of uniform value down to the last particle. No farmer should pay for lint which is worthless as food and may cause trouble when he can buy Buckeye Hulls which are lintless and certain to give good results. Even at the same price, Buckeye Hulls would be a better buy than old style hulls. But they cost so much less that any feeder can see it is poor business to use anything else.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage oder, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls. Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your
