Physicians who reached the scene soon after the accident believe he was killed before he fell. Mr. McCall had one child. His wife died about a year ago.

FATAL AUTOMOBILE WRECK.
One Killed and Four Injured Near Barnwell.
Barnwell, S. C., March 14.—Another fatal automobile accident occurred near Barnwell between 12 and 1 o'clock Tuesday in which P. Mitchell, face cut; Wingo, chest injured; Henry Livingston, left ankle broken and right foot bruised. The accident occurred about three miles from Barnwell on the road to Williston. Mr. Scott was driving the car, said he was running about ten miles an hour when the front wheels went into a sand covered hole. The steering rod bent and the machine became unmanageable, turning over and completely around and landing in a ditch. All of the occupants of the car were pinned under the machine except Mr. Har, who was thrown clear of the wreck and into the ditch. It is thought that he fell on his head, his neck being broken.

DIES IN FRANCE.
Prominent Young Dillon Man Dies in Service.
Dillon, S. C., March 14.—A telegram was received here Monday afternoon from Adjutant General McCain of the army announcing the death in France of Lieut. John David, only son of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. David, of Dillon. Lieutenant David was graduated from the Citadel in the summer of 1914. He returned to Dillon and at once became efficient assistant to his father in his extensive farming operations. When the first call for volunteers for the officers' training school at Fort Oglethorpe was made he offered his services and at the conclusion of the school received the rank of first lieutenant. Two men were wanted from his company to go to France and when lined up and volunteers were called for John David was the first to step forward. He also had the distinction of being the first to volunteer from Dillon county.

TO TEST QUART LAW.
Proceedings Started to Get Supreme Court Opinion.
Columbia, S. C., March 14.—Constitutionality of the quart a month act as amended by the recent General Assembly, will be tested in a friendly suit in the State Supreme Court. The action is to be brought by a citizen of Sumter, who has been refused a permit by Thos. E. Richardson, judge of probate of Sumter county, on the grounds of alleged unconstitutionality of the law. A writ of mandamus has been requested and a hearing will be held before Judge Thomas S. Sease at Manning within the next few days. The party losing in the hearing before Judge Sease will make an appeal immediately to the Supreme Court.

ALLEGED PLUMBERS.
ROB CLAUDE KITCHIN
By George H. Manning.
Washington, D. C., March 14.—The efforts of Congressman Claude Kitchin, House Democratic leader, to follow the advice of the food administration and Department of Agriculture to "can all you can" to win the war received a set-back last Sunday. Three men representing themselves to be plumbers inspectors obtained entrance to Mr. Kitchin's home and stole twelve jars of preserved fruits. They evidently were unsuccessful in their search for bigger game and became hungry. When Mr. Kitchin heard of their visit he became suspicious of the pseudo inspectors and searched the house, but found nothing missing but the preserves. He reported the theft to the police.

War Conference in Louisiana.
Shreveport, La., March 14.—Delegates representing the various county units of the Council of National Defense with various other organizations actively interested in the national welfare, assembled here today for a conference to co-ordinate the war and relief activities in Louisiana. Secretary of Agriculture Houston and several other speakers of prominence are scheduled to address the gathering during the two days' sessions.

MacMILLAN'S PLATFORM.
Editor Dispatch:
I notice Mr. MacMillan's political advertisement in a local paper asking the voters to support him for the office of State Senator on a platform of "Good Roads."
This is a very commendable platform but I was wondering if Mr. MacMillan had not inadvertently gotten the wrong platform and I felt that he would like to have the voters call his attention to the matter and upon reflection, no doubt, he will change his platform. I mention this on account of Mr. MacMillan's attitude towards Federal Point township, as well as thousands of others, will question Mr. MacMillan's undivided allegiance to the platform of "good roads." His persistent opposition to repair and improve the Federal Point township and Carolina Beach road, while a member of the Board of County Commissioners, is a matter of fact and record. Why? Was it because the farmer folk and farmers in the Federal Point section, who make their standing in court and do not count? Mr. MacMillan's opposition to the Carolina Beach road in the face of the cries of the school children is astonishing to say the least. Personally, Mr. MacMillan seems to be a very fine gentleman and we need a man in the senate who can represent all of the people and who is not behold to a small crowd of special interest who brought at the secret meeting after they would be much left of the people's grumblings.

CLEVELAND WAS FIRST TO RAISE LIMIT CLUB

Campaign Continued Through This Week at Request of Managers

(Special to The Dispatch.)
Winston-Salem, March 14.—For the reason that the Thousand Dollar Club campaign got a running start last week that would not allow it to stop this week and for the further reason that county chairmen requested that they be given another week to work this feature of the War Savings campaign, State headquarters here has decided to continue this work until March 16. During this time increased effort is expected on the part of every chairman and organization in the State.

The Limit Club appeal met with a liberal response generally throughout the State and it is believed that another week given to this work will bring many counties up to their full quota. Shelby and Cleveland county, with Hon. O. Max Gardner, chairman, went beyond her quota five members, or $5,000 last week. Buncombe telegraphed State headquarters that she could be counted on for her quota of two hundred members.

Other counties reporting the number of members secured to the War Savings Limit Club last week: Forsyth, 172; Wake, 79; Edgecombe and Wilson, 54; Catawba, 50; Pitt, 40; Franklin, 3; Pamlico, 28; Division, 27; Harnett, 25; Randolph, 17, and Johnson, 10.

The Thousand Dollar Club proposition interests many farmers, writes one chairman to State headquarters. He says that many farmers are being neglected on the War Savings Stamp plan of investing their money, and that many would be glad to loan the government their money if the facts and advantages are made known to them. Farmers will surprise you more than any other class of people, he says. They will often take a thousand dollars in War Savings Stamps when you think they couldn't take a hundred. It pays you to pay them your respects as regards this proposition. Furthermore, he says, farmers are more patriotic than you sometimes think. This war is weighing heavy on their hearts and they are willing to do their part in bringing it to an end.

NEW YORK LETTER

By O. O. McIntyre.
Special correspondent of The Dispatch.
New York, March 14.—As a man speaketh so is he: The subway express was rollicking along with the home going Manhattanese. Several tired passengers cast their admiring eyes upon a youth of some twenty odd years clad in robes of the highest quality. He wore a cravat that indicated its belief that it should be heard as well as seen.

On his glistening patent leathers he wore those must insulted and mimicked, but still considerably in vogue spats. There were valuable rings adorning graceful, well shaped fingers; finger nails with the appearance of having daily paid homage to an expert manicurist.
His was the complete atmosphere of superiority, of selectiveness and many of the passengers were thrilled to be in the presence of this personality. He wore his hat jauntily and in one vest pocket peeped a gold cigarette case and in the other a corresponding gold match safe. Slanting across his vest was a thin platinum chain—neat as they say, but not at all gaudy.
The smell of high priced pomade from his well smoothed hair gave a pleasant relief from the caked subway odors.
He turned.
He observed the admiring gaze of a poorly clad young man who stood with his mouth wide open. Then he spoke—
Then—
The etymological horror of it all! "Say, feller, youse ain't got no match on youse, have youse. I'm gittin' out at the next station and I want to light my torch."
And the young man addressed, shuddered, passed out the match and

To Stop a Persistent, Hacking Cough

The best remedy is one you can easily make at home. Cheap, but very effective.
Thousands of people normally healthy in every other respect, are annoyed with a persistent hacking or bronchial cough year after year, disturbing their sleep and making life disagreeable. It's needless—there's an old home-made remedy that will end such a cough easily and quickly.
Get from any druggist "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" (80 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Begin taking it at once. Gradually but surely you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether, thus ending a cough that you never thought would end. It also promptly loosens a dry or tight cough, stops the troublesome throat tickle, soothes the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes, and relief comes almost immediately. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and for bronchial asthma there is nothing better. It tastes pleasant and keeps perfectly.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is used by millions of people every year for throat and chest colds with splendid results.
To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The King Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

turned with loathing to the sport page.
And speaking of clothes, in the days when Berry Wall, Broadway's fashion plate, thrilled the Rialto with his 365 suits of clothes—a suit for every day in the year—he was the subject for many Sunday stories about his wardrobe.

But a Berry Wall today would not draw a two-line notice in the press. Men with even 400 suits of clothes are not plentiful, but several have that many. The other day a Fifth avenue Ward McAllister ordered eight dozen silk shirts with silk collars for the summer season.
This same man has seven dress suits, nine dinner coats and buys forty-two suits at one time. He has not, it seems, become conscious that nations are at war.

Martin Beck, who hires actors—and fires them too—for vaudeville purpose, believes that actors like to suffer. In fact he says must suffer. And those who enjoy seeing actors suffer can see them in the act of suffering at any theatrical boarding house on Saturday night.
But anyway it is Mr. Beck's theory that suffering is a part of the actor life most enjoyed. To succeed means to overcome. To overcome means to do against odds—thus it is the actor likes to suffer.
He has that something in him which delights in tribulations and he is constantly thinking about them.

The FOWLER CULTIVATOR Makes More Bread for The Nation

Directions for Operating Fig. 1
In this form the Fowler is used after plowing and harrowing to prepare a seed bed. The soil slips between the upper and lower blades, forming a seed bed which is a perfect mulch. All clods, trash or stones, unable to pass through the narrow space between the upper and lower blades, slide along to the ends of the blades and are left in the middles between the rows. In doing this the upper blades move just above the surface of the ground and act like fenders. No other cultivator will remove from the seed bed all clods, stones and trash and leave a perfectly level surface consisting only of the pulverized soil, in which to plant the seed. The Fowler is also used in this form, when run deep, to throw up a raised seed bed, completing the bed at one trip through.

Directions for Operating Fig. 2
With the Flow Foot in the center removed the Fowler is used for early cultivation astride the row: barring off and cultivating both sides of the row at one trip through. By the action of the upper Blades only fine pulverized soil is left on either side of the growing plant. All grass and weeds are cut off and left on the surface to die. The Fowler leaves a perfectly level surface behind it, entirely free from little furrows which would cause washing during heavy rains. In a dry season the fine dust mulch made by this Cultivator conserves the moisture and plant food and yet offers an ideal surface for receiving even the slightest rainfall. This work astride the row can be done with one horse by hitching to the side clevis.

Directions for Operating Fig. 3
When plants become too large for cultivating astride the row a short Blade is attached on the right to throw the fine mulch prepared by previous cultivations to the roots of the growing plant. In this case the Flow Foot is replaced and the long Blade on the left destroys all weeds and further pulverizes the soil between the rows. Note that the upper Blades are taken off for this work. As all trash and clods have been removed from the proximity of the plants by the previous cultivations astride the row nothing is now left within reach of the short Blade but a fine level surface which is thrown to the roots. The clods and trash previously thrown between the rows now slip over the Blade without leaving their place in the center between the rows.

Directions for Operating Fig. 4
For late cultivation, to keep down the final growth of weeds and vines and to break the hard crust forming after rains, only the long lower Blades are used. These Blades move parallel to and above the roots of the crop, which toward maturity come close to the surface. The Cultivator Blades do not injure these roots although completely destroying all grass, weeds and vines. Other cultivators run across the crop roots and deep enough to destroy many of them, making late cultivation with such tools impossible. When crop roots are damaged the energy of the plant is devoted to restoring such roots before further developing either stalk or seed so necessary to a maximum yield.

Unless otherwise specified the Fowler is shipped with 32-inch Blades which, by means of the expanding lever, can be made to cut various widths of from 20 to 40 inches. The extra Short Blade shown in Fig. 3 is also shipped with every Cultivator. Longer or shorter Blades covering any width from 15 inches to 45 inches will be furnished if preferred.
