THE INDIAN BOY AT SCHOOL.
They brought him away from his prairie home, from his comrades so wild and free, from the and sports that were his delight, and the plains where he longed to be; for they fain would conquer his savage tastes, and they hoped he might be beguiled—though an Indian boy—to follow along in the trail of the white man's child.

How tame to him were the quiet haunts, and the hum of the study hour, when he longed on his bareback steed away o'er the level fields to scour! Or to poise himself on a giddy height, where no white man would dare to go, and send his arrow with fatal aim to the deer in the vale below.

His people were warriors brave and strong! His father a Ponca chief! And many a scalp he had thought to win himself in a warlike fief; and now, as he tossed in his narrow bed, his slumbers with dreams were rife, of the tomahawk and the deadly spear, the arrow and hunting knife, the humdrum lessons, the daily drill, the training, were far too mild to suit the taste of the savage boy, his fierce and barbaric child, and though he daily pursued his tasks, and daily his lessons spelled, the spirit within him, still unsubdued, each hour at his lot rebelled.

To flee from the spiritless, paleface ways, and—again a wild boy—to roam (the forests deep and the plains so wide, where his spirit had its home), in the pronghorn chase as it earlier years, the years that were all too brief—For his heart was the heart of an Indian brave, and the son of a Ponca chief.

"HAS BEEN A FRIEND TO ME"
Says Lady, Regarding Cardui, in Giving This Well-Known Woman's Tonic Credit for Her Good Health.

Cleveland, Tenn.—Mrs. Joanna Felker, of this place, after telling of the help she obtained from the use of Cardui 12 years ago, when it built up her health and strength, says further: "The next time I used it (Cardui) was about 4 or 5 years ago. I had . . . and was just able to drag around for a good while, getting worse all the time. I suffered intense pain in the lower abdomen and back . . . Could hardly do my work, it was all a drag . . . and walking was very painful for me. I finally had to give up and go to bed, where I stayed about a week . . . and then turned back to Cardui, my old friend.

After starting the Cardui, I was able to be up in 2 or 3 days . . . The pains were relieved soon after beginning to take the Cardui, and when I got up, walking was easy for me . . . Got back my health and strength . . . and in 3 weeks was able to do most of my work.

It's a fine medicine, and has been a good friend to me, and I am a friend to it too. It's through taking Cardui I have been well and strong and in good health for the past 4 or 5 years. I will always praise it."

Cardui should do for you, what it has done for thousands of other women. It should help you. Try Cardui. Adv.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy and youthful with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

"La Creole" Hair Dressing positively eradicates dandruff, keeps the scalp in a healthy condition and promotes the growth of new hair; brings back a natural, soft, even, dark shade to gray or faded hair, and makes it lustrous, full of life and beautiful.
