Bracing as a North Wind

At the end of a hard day, just sit down to a cup of Luzianne Coffee. See how you pick up with every savory sip. Luzianne is far, far different from any other coffee. It's got something that all the others seem to lack. And it's packed in dust-proof, moisture-proof cans that bring Luzianne to your kitchen just the same as when it left the roaster. Buy a can and try it for yourself. An iron-clad, air-tight guarantee says that if you are not entirely satisfied with Luzianne, your grocer will give you back your money. And he will.

Home Rule Movement

1870—Isaac Butt became leader of the movement for Irish Home Rule.
 1878—Leadership of the movement passed to Charles Stuart Parnell.
 1882—Negotiations between Parnell and Gladstone halted by the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under Secretary Burke, in Phoenix Park, Dublin.
 1886—Gladstone introduced his first Home Rule bill, and it was rejected by 30 votes.
 1893—Gladstone succeeded in having his second Home Rule bill passed by the House of Commons, only to have it killed by the House of Lords.
 Several succeeding attempts to bring about the enactment of bills to establish self-government in Ireland met with failure, but with each attempt the movement became stronger.
 1905—Redmond's motion for a consideration of Home Rule defeated in the House of Commons by 60 votes.
 1907—Government presented a Home Rule bill. Convention of Irishmen at Dublin rejected it unanimously, and the ministry dropped it.
 1908—Redmond's motion for a consideration of Home Rule was carried by 156. No further action taken.
 1911—Parliament passed an act abolishing the absolute veto power of the Lords.
 1912—New Home Rule bill introduced in the House of Commons.
 1913—Bill passed the third reading in January by 110 votes. Rejected by the House of Lords.
 1913—Introduced a second time in April and passed in July by the Commons by 109 votes. Lords again rejected it.
 1914—Passed the House of Commons for the third time on May 25.
 1914—Signed by King George V on September 18 and went on statute books.
 1915—Application of Home Rule held up pending agreement of the rival Irish factions.
 1916—Revolt in Ireland and martial law declared throughout the island. Arrest and execution of Sir Roger Casement and other revolutionists.
 1917—Irish Nationalists in House of Commons presented a resolution calling for the immediate application of the Home Rule law. The government replied that Home Rule would not be forced upon Ulster.
 1918—Premier Lloyd George announced the intention of the government to apply conscription to Ireland and to grant the immediate application of the Home Rule law.

THIS STATE TO ENTER WAR SAVINGS CONTEST

Bronze Tablet to Be Given the School Saving Most Money

(Special to The Dispatch.)
 Winston-Salem, April 19.—To boost Thrift and War Savings among the schools in the United States, Miss Mary C. C. Bradford, president of the National Education Association of the United States, is offering a bronze commemorative tablet as a prize to the school that saves the largest amount, per capita, of any school in the nation. Miss Bradford has written to Col. F. H. Fries, State Director of War Savings in North Carolina, asking that he keep her in touch with the progress of the War Savings movement in the various schools of this State, that she may know what school leads and which shall be the winner. Colonel Fries has assured Miss Bradford that he will co-operate with her in this fundamental and patriotic work by presenting the matter to the schools of the State and urging them to enter whole heartedly in the contest.
 Today Colonel Fries is informing the schools both through the press and by direct communication of the offer that Miss Bradford is making. He believes that North Carolina's chance of winning this tablet is exceptionally good. He bases his judgment on the excellent reports, particularly the per capita sales that have already been made by many of the schools to State Headquarters. He urges that every school in the State enter the contest at once, and that the first step be to organize every pupil in school into a War Savings Society. A thoroughly organized and active organization, he says, will be the method to win in this contest. Colonel Fries is requesting the schools to make regular monthly reports to him of their per capita sales. These reports he will forward to the National Education Association, the National Headquarters of which are at Washington, D. C.
 Miss Bradford's letter to Colonel Fries, reads, "I am asking you to keep me constantly in touch with the progress of the War Savings movement in the various schools in your commonwealth. I am so greatly interested in this movement, that I am offering a bronze commemorative tablet as a prize to the school that saves the largest amount, per capita, of any school in the nation. In order to learn what school leads, I must ask you to forward promptly, full details of the progress made by your schools in this fundamental and patriotic work."

ASKED TO REPORT DISLOYAL ACTS

Charleston, S. C., April 19.—It has come to the notice of this office that many people fail to report suspicious and disloyal acts or manifestations of sympathy for the enemy, because of uncertainty as to the proper official to approach.
 It is very important that the government should have the assistance of all citizens in detecting enemy propaganda or suspicious activities of individuals, and you will do a service in notifying your friends that any communication addressed to "Intelligence Officer," Headquarters South-eastern Department, Charleston, S. C., will receive attention and be transmitted to the proper official of the government for investigation. The names of informants will not be divulged and there need be no fear, on the part of anybody, of getting into trouble in case suspicions prove to be unfounded.
 Informants should indicate the nature and source of their information, as well as the time and place.
 One hundred and twenty women physicians, surgeons, nurses and attendants are included in the staff of the Endell Street Hospital in London, the only military hospital in the world manned exclusively by women.

Avoiding the Rush Hours

The curve in the right-hand corner of the illustration shows approximately the fluctuations of telephone calls at a central office in the average busy city. The high spots represent the rush hours for which additional operators and adequate equipment must always be ready.

To get easier hauls, the railroad engineer lowers grades and straightens curves, cutting through hills and filling valleys.

If the telephone traffic curve could be flattened by distributing a percentage of calls over less busy periods, it would effect a material saving and assist us to meet the extraordinary demands for telephone service.

Important business calls cannot be deferred, but there are many calls, social and less urgent, which might be made at other times without loss to the subscriber.

By avoiding these high spots in telephone traffic, generally speaking, around ten o'clock in the morning and three o'clock in the afternoon, and by making telephone calls of a social or less urgent nature before or after these rush hours, the telephone user will be co-operating with us in the patriotic service we are rendering the Government and help us to meet the constantly increasing demands for telephone service.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.
 Two Weeks' Institute in Progress at Kenansville.
 (Special to The Dispatch.)
 Warsaw, April 19.—Prof. J. Henry Highsmith and Miss Hattie Parrott are conducting a teachers' institute in Kenansville, which will continue for two weeks from the date of starting—April 15. There are 28 teachers in attendance all of whom are showing much interest in the lectures. Professor M. H. Wooten announces April 26 as the "Big Day" when all the teachers and committeemen of the county are expected to meet in Kenansville. On that day there will also be a great rally in the interest of the sale of Liberty bonds and War Savings stamps, when it is expected that a number of prominent speakers will be present.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LOFTIN.
 Highly Esteemed Woman Buried at Warsaw.
 (Special to The Dispatch.)
 Warsaw, April 19.—Services over the body of the late Mrs. Sarah Loftin, who died in Fayetteville Monday, were conducted here at the home of her son, Mr. Joel M. Loftin, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and interment was made in the local cemetery. Rev. K. W. Cawthon, pastor of the Warsaw Baptist church, assisted by Rev. R. M. Herring, of Mount Olive, conducting the services. The deceased was about 72 years of age, and was a woman of most estimable character, the high esteem in which she was held being evidenced both by the number of friends from a distance, who attended the funeral, as well as the number of lovely floral tributes. She is immediately survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lon Davis, of Seven Springs, and Mrs. Nabule Herring, of Burgaw; a son, Mr. Noel M. Loftin, of Warsaw.

A GREAT SPEECH.
 John Sprunt Hill Makes Speech at Faison.
 (Special to The Dispatch.)
 Faison, N. C., April 19.—On his native heath, this whole-souled man gave his old friends and the community one of the best speeches of the many good speeches that have been made here as to the war. Faison having "gone over the top" with its 30 men from so small a place, backs those men with their money in investments in Liberty bonds and War Savings certificates, the quota assigned having been subscribed. Such a speech as Mr. Hill delivered should be heard by all, then the man who simply says, "Is this our war" would be convinced of his folly, and bend every energy, material and mental, to win. Duplin county, grand in the past, will maintain her reputation of manhood in this hour of trial.
 Life insurance experts contend that a woman who is in good health at the age of 45 is likely to outlive a man of the same age, because she is apt to be more temperate and is less liable to accident.
