AUTO CRASHED INTO TRAIN AT RIVERDALE

Mystery How Occupants of Car Escaped Death in the Accident

(Special to The Dispatch.)
New Bern, June 12.—Just how C. C. Cannon, white, and Caesar Nixon, colored, escaped death when an automobile in which they were riding and which crashed into the Norfolk Southern eastbound train at Riverdale Monday afternoon, escaped death is a mystery to those who witnessed the accident.
The men, whose homes are at Havelock, were seen by the engineer when they were some distance from the track but they had ample time to stop and the engineer paid no attention to them. However, instead of stopping, Nixon, who was driving the car, put on more "gas" and dashed into one side of the mail car at full speed.
The machine was wrecked and both men thrown out. Cannon was not badly hurt but the colored man was in a serious condition. They were placed on one of the cars and at once brought to New Bern and placed in St. Luke's hospital for treatment. Cannon was able to leave after being patched up but the colored man is still receiving treatment, and while his injuries are of a serious nature, the attending physician states that he has a chance for recovery.
Miss Elvera Anderson, who has for a number of months held the position of district nurse in this city, will leave Friday for a point in the north where she will take up Red Cross work in one of the army camps.
Charles L. Abernethy, candidate for congress from the third district, spent Monday in the city with his family, leaving at night for Raleigh, where today he will appear before the state board of elections and make a protest in regard to the primary held in Wayne and Sampson counties.
Mr. Abernethy wasn't doing much talking here. He said that he was not showing his hand for fear that his political opponents would attempt to block his contemplated moves but he intimated that he had a few surprises up his sleeve.
He will be represented before the board by half a dozen or more lawyers, including Messrs. D. E. Henderson and Charles R. Thomas, of the New Bern bar.
Outfielder Wickland and Pitcher Fillingim, the Indianapolis stars of last season, have caught the step with the Braves and are performing in true big-time fashion.
