The new participants that are entering the Campaign each day are also displaying wonderful interest and are fully determined to take advantage to the greatest extent of the present special vote offer and receive 250,000 extra votes for each club of $25 in subscriptions they secure to The Dispatch. It has often been stated and is absolutely the fact that never again during the life of the Campaign will so many votes be issued upon subscriptions to The Dispatch as now. With the vote greatly declining after the present special vote offer every candidate should manifest great interest during the next two days and have every possible subscription that they secure to reach The Dispatch by Saturday, 10 p. m., June 22nd, so that they can receive proper credit for the special votes.

New Candidates Display Wonderful Interest.

It is especially gratifying to The Dispatch to witness the activity that is being displayed by the new candidates. We mean by the new candidates the young ladies that entered the Campaign within the past few days. They seem to realize that now is the time to act and are securing many subscriptions each day; in fact, each day displays an increased interest by all of the candidates in the Campaign, and every one seems to realize that the only requirement to enjoy success is by taking advantage of every opportunity and securing as many subscriptions as possible. To enjoy success in the Campaign is not a question of money, but it is a question of legitimate business. The Dispatch desires to increase their circulation; therefore a Campaign of this character was resorted to, and to show the liberal policy they are willing to richly reward all who will co-operate with them in their purpose, and many young ladies can be well rewarded that will devote a part of their time each day in securing subscriptions. The Studebaker Six, the Chevrolet Five Passenger Touring Car, the Victor Victrolas, the choice of any machine the Singer Manufacturing company make, the four chesses or Silver, the two Eastman Kodaks and the two solid gold ladies' wrist watches are really worth the while and time of any one. Their quality is good and there is not a young lady regardless but what would not appreciate one of the above-mentioned gifts. They are within the power of all to secure and to be doubly sure that success will be assured on August 17th, take advantage of the present special vote offer by Saturday, 10 p. m., June 22nd, and there will be a wedge so strong that it will require intense activity for any one to dislodge the successful candidate that takes advantage of the special vote offer this week.

New York Letter

By O. O. McINTYRE,
(Special Correspondent of The Dispatch.)

New York, June 20.—It is difficult to excite New York. When the order came to "douse the glims" to forestall a possible Hun bombing expedition I failed to find a person—save a newsstand girl—who showed the slightest nervousness.

The order was heard on Broadway at the busy five o'clock period—the hour when telephone booths are at a premium and when the cocktail shakers are white with frost.

Under the hotel canopies the curbstone comedians were as facetious as ever. The chorus girl scurried to her appointment for a terrapin dinner to be ready to recite her deathless line, "Oh, girls! Here comes the prince!"

Taxicab pirates shouted a sly persiflage to fellow pirates as they jockeyed in and out the maze of traffic and when they doubled on the trail of an amazed countryman shouted their stock phrase, "How do you like the city?" with the same old enthusiasm.

When groups stopped and scanned the skies for a possible bomber they did it with as much seriousness as a circus clown and always some joke was fashioned out of the tense situation.

The roof gardens were dark but crowds were there to see what was going to happen. And fox-trotters played in the dark and fox-trotters trotted in the dark—wearing an innovation out of an impending disaster.

Crowds flocked to Broadway and the subway trains rolled into every station with sardine like loads. In the vaudeville houses, the comedians had their little japeries about the possible bombing and the audiences laughed.

Around the news bulletin boards the crowds were thick as files at molasses time, waiting for any inkling of news. To a casual observer it would seem that to put it gruesomely, New Yorkers wanted "to be in at the death." They wanted to see what it looked like to have a city bombed. But back of it all was a certain tautness ready at the slightest spark to galvanize into action. On the surface New York was like the face of the mmo whose antics hide a secret tragedy.

THREE PRISONERS SAW THEIR WAY TO FREEDOM

Break From State Penitentiary at Columbia—Statehouse Deserted For Day

(Special to The Dispatch)

Columbia, S. C., June 20.—Three prisoners, two white and one colored, escaped about noon Tuesday from the state penitentiary. They are: Frank Griffith, sent up from Lexington county April 23, 1916, for life for the murder of a Mr. Roof on the Griffith farm.

Clarence Davis, sent from Charleston county on June 11, 1914, for 30 years for assault and battery. His sentence was later commuted to 10 years.

James Monroe, colored, sent from Dillon county February 28 for 15 months for larceny.

The men were at work in the commissary department and did not have on the regulation prison stripes. They escaped by sawing a hole in the floor of the commissary and getting into the basement, where they broke a window and escaped. The commissary treasurer was out of the commissary was out of the commissary for a while about the noon hour and it was during his absence that they sawed the hole through the plank floor.

An alarm was immediately turned in by the treasurer and the police and county officials notified. Warnings were also sent all over the state and a vigorous search for the men was immediately instituted.

Frank Griffith was convicted of the murder of a man named Roof. The case was a very sensational one and great interest centered in it because of the prominence of Griffith, who is a brother of the former superintendent of the penitentiary. News that he had escaped created somewhat of a sensation in Lexington county, where he was particularly well known.

The statehouse was deserted yesterday, a number of officials having gone to Barnwell to attend the opening meeting of the state campaign. Quite a number of the officials, however, will not attend any more of the meetings, as they have no opposition.

Governor Manning Monday night called up Mayor T. Hyde, of Charleston, and asked him if he would get some of the plants in that city that were not engaged in government work to shut down for a brief period of time and allow their labor to unload the two ships of nitrate of soda that have been in Charleston harbor for some time, but which have not been unloaded because, as the government agents reported, of the inability to get labor. Mayor Hyde assured the governor he would co-operate in every way he could.

At noon Tuesday Governor Manning received a telegram from Mayor Hyde to the effect that one of the ships had been unloaded and that the work of unloading the other had begun. This means that the fertilizer will be available for the farmers of the state immediately.

Favorable to Cotton Crop

New York, June 20.—The weekly report of the weather bureau proved quite as favorable as expected regarding the immediate progress of the cotton, but again mentioned increasing numbers of boll weevil in Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi. It seemed that its favorable features had been discounted, as it brought in no selling of consequence and the market firmed up after its publication on covering, which was promoted by private complaints of droughty weather and high temperatures in the southwest. July advanced to 25.97c and October to 24.15c, or 13 to 16 points net higher.

Miss Florence Etheridge, an attorney, of Miami, Okla., has been appointed a probate attorney in the service of the Indian bureau.

THE INVALUABLE SISLER.

George Sisler, the St. Louis sensation, who is now playing first base for the Browns, is again hitting the ball in sensational style and bids fair to capture the batting championship. He is far ahead of both Speaker and Cobb, and is closely pressing the leaders. He should have no trouble in passing Burns and Walker, of Philadelphia, but Ruth and "Home Run" Baker may furnish more serious opposition.

Ways in Which a Live Boy Can Earn a Bicycle

1. Go to your neighbors and friends and tell them you are going to start a newspaper route. Ask them what papers you can bring them. After you get your bicycle you can make this route three or four times as large because you can get over the ground so much quicker. Be the first newsboy to reach the best paying section of your town or city.

2. If possible, handle daily papers, using also the Saturday Evening Post, Collier's Weekly and other weeklies for which there may be a demand. This will earn you extra money one or two days in the week without making extra trouble or taking extra time.

3. Let the neighbors know that you are ready to do errands faithfully, quickly and well and you will find that they will call on you often.

4. Talk with the storekeepers of your town and see if they don't need a good boy to help them after school and on Saturdays. Good training for you as well as earning money.

5. The writer when a boy spent part of his Saturdays selling matches from a basket and earned a good bit by it. If not matches, you can sell other small things that everybody uses. The fact that you are a boy will lead them to buy of you rather than a regular dealer.

6. Picking fruit, working in gardens, mowing lawns, shoveling snow, etc. is good for you and at the same time means earning money. Doing odd jobs and chores for elderly people who cannot do it themselves may be made another means of earning money.

Tank Steamer, Victim of U-Boat, Ashore on New Jersey Coast

When the tanker Herbert L. Pratt was torpedoed the captain turned her toward shore and ran for the beach. She reached her objective just as she was going down. The ship now lies with her bow under seven feet of water and her stern high in the air. Her cargo is believed to be safe and it is expected that she can be salvaged without great difficulty.

Remember The Lusitania!

It is reported that the captain of the submarine that sank the Lusitania has lost his mind. His little girl had been out in a rainstorm and came into the house wringing wet—hat in hand and hair disheveled. The sight of this drove him crazy. We think he must have been crazy before he sank that ship.

Americans went down without warning. American women, with babies clinging to their breasts, went down into the icy waters—down to their graves among the coral reefs. Our boys are trying to bring the bloody Huns to justice for such as that—but guns won't shoot without bullets. One War Savings Stamp will buy 100 bullets, and—
