FOOLISH FANCIES

BY ROY L. GRIFFIN
Of N. C. Camp F-9
Civilian Conservation Corps

ONE hot afternoon last week I took off across somebody's wheat field and unintentionally day-dreamed myself into the middle of a creek. Sounds silly, doesn't it?

If you had felt th' cold mountain water, though, swirling around your clothed body, you would have no doubt of the reality of the aforesaid situation. Seeing the predicament I was in, Mrs. Griffin's wet little Roy only turned over, and continued day-dreaming. This time, though, of piracy on the high seas.

How long I lay there, I know not. In the spring, you know, a young man's fancy turns to love, and other beautiful things of life. Please pardon! I-keep forgetting that I'm no Kipling or Browning. Well, anyway, after a time, I happened to glance up, and me, oh my, two gloriously fair young maidens beamed down upon me. Good gosh! Was my face red? Just imagine, dear readers, if you were in my position. Now, really, don't you feel a flush creeping up your neck? Huh? If you don't, then there's something radically wrong some place. Not getting personal, of course. Well, I helped Roy up out of the creek, and almost immediately fell for one of the girls. Why, I don't know. I guess it was just one of those cases. Anyway, we just sat and talked, and I made a vow to her that nothing could ever take me away from her side.

It wasn't long before I heard the chow bell over at camp and I asked her if she would go with me. Of course, she answered no. So once again, I took off across somebody's wheat field—this time with an object in view; supper.

Believe it, or don't you dare believe it! There's no sense to it either way.

Questions and Answers

Q.—What do you think of Rudy Vallee's saxophone playing being compared with a cow?

A.—I think that he should apologize to the cow. A cow can make the same noise, and also gives milk.

Q.—What C. C. C. boy is in greatest demand by the Franklin girls?

A.—The one with the price of a theatre ticket.

Q.—Did "Cowboy" go home?

A.—Yes! Believe it or not, but he's getting married this month.

Q.—Where is Lewis Hargett's home?

A.—Two miles behind the post office of a place called Indian Trail, a community known as "Possum Hollow."

Q.—I'm very much in love with a man, but he puzzles me. Should I marry him?

A.—Sure! Don't you like to work puzzles?

Q.—Why don't Mrs. Griffin's Roy go with some Franklin girl?

A.—Because he was brought up to "trade at home."

Now, folks, if I didn't get to your question, don't be disheartened. I'll answer it next week.

MUSINGS of a canteen clerk—
About the only thing that comes into our lives without work is trouble. . . . The man without a country had nothing on the C. C. C. boy without a cigarette. . . . Heard that Granville B. Liles will play the part of Archibald in a forthcoming play entitled, "My Tame Scotch Violet." . . . They say this is a machine age. I wonder where the substitute for using a pick and shovel can be found. . . . Bernard Hargett travelled down to Uvanna the other day to see his girl, and to his query at a certain house received this answer, "A gentleman with a red jacket called around the other night. I'm sorry, but she doesn't live here anymore."
