Freak Weather

Spring Days Routed as Snow Begins To Fall

Franklin and other parts of Macon county experienced some freakish April weather this week.

The first of the week it was perfect spring weather, with the temperature so mild that fruit trees came out with profuse blossoms and working men came off with their coats and women walked forth in flimsy new spring frocks.

Wednesday a change was in the air, signified by strong winds that raised such a dust the horizon was obliterated.

Then Thursday we had the unusual sight of snow falling midst beautiful spring blossoms. Fear was felt for many freshly planted gardens, but some weather forecasters said they believed most plantings would escape injury. This paper ventures no prediction. The editor is like an old man at Blowing Rock who commented: "Nobody but dern fools and strangers try to predict the weather around here."

N. C. GIVEN $7,309,990

Federal relief grants to North Carolina until April 1 amounted to $7,309,990, according to figures released in Washington.

Clippings

POLITICIANS ARE PAINED

Governor Ehringhaus' caustic reference to the "mugwumps" at the Jackson Day dinner in Raleigh sounds a whole lot like a common plaint from political leaders whenever the voters begin to show signs of human intelligence and give evidence of doing a little independent thinking instead of swallowing whatever line of hoop-la and honey the aforesaid leaders deem it either personally or politically expedient to pass out for consumption by the "deer peupul."

We do not subscribe to the idea that political discipline must necessarily come from the top. We entertain the naive belief that some of the ordinary run of voters have very nearly as much sense as the men they elect to office, and that it is quite in order for disciplinary pressure to be brought to bear upon leaders by their followers when occasion demands.

Rigid party discipline may be a fine thing for those sterling patriots who are filled with an urge to remain in office, and beyond doubt there are times when it is both necessary and desirable. An equally fine thing, in the opinion of many, is a growing tendency upon the part of the non-office-holding public to do its own thinking and to summon the visceral stamina necessary to transform such thoughts into action, all the vociferous applause of the Jackson Day dinners to the contrary notwithstanding.—LENOIR NEWS TOPIC
