

FATHERS AND SONS HEAR PLEA

men and boys attended the banquet.

The activities of the vocational agriculture class were outlined in an address on "Our Work" by Harold Stewart, who also acted as toastmaster. He told of progress made in home planting projects, of the studies undertaken by members of the class at school, of the progress of the pig project started several years ago by the Franklin Rotary club, and of the library of books on farm topics which the class has accumulated.

Program

The full program for the dinner follows:
Invocation, G. L. Houk; welcome address, Jim Patton; toast to dads, Joe Shope; response by a father, W. G. Stewart; music dinner; "Our Work," Harold Stewart; songs, Richard Slagle; hog-calling contest; introduction of speaker, E. H. Meacham; address, T. W. Hall.
Short talks were also made by Senator Patton; M. D. Billings, Fred S. Sloan; Walter Gibson, Sheriff A. B. Slagle; J. E. McLean, of Bryson City, and H. T. McKowan, of Atlanta, buyer for the White Provision company.

Application of New Vets' Legislation Is Explained

Although the papers have been full of talk, pro and con, concerning the provisions made by congress for war veterans in the independent offices supply bill, there has been little said in explanation of just what the measure does for the ex-service man. A digest of the measure, as it applies to war veterans, has been prepared by the legislative department of the Disabled American Veterans, as follows:

1. There are no retroactive payments beyond March 28, 1934, under any provision.
2. All rates of pay under the old World War Veterans' Act, exclusive of presumptives, but including statutory compensation for the loss of the use of both eyes, double amputations etc., are reenacted.
3. The usual prohibition against payment to misconduct cases and post-armistice enlistments do not prevail in the cases of the totally blind.

4. At a rate of 75 per cent of the amount being received when the economy act was enacted, there will be restored all resumptive cases, as they stood March 19, 1933, except for the post-armistice enlistments, where there is clear and unmistakable evidence that the disability occurred before or after service unless aggravation was shown and to persons whose service connection was granted through fraud, error or misrepresentation.
5. All those who entered World War service before November 11, 1918, and in whose cases there is no misconduct and where there is no fraud, misrepresentation or error, are restored to their previous rates of payments, except unmarried hospitalized men.

6. There is a return to the rating table in effect March 19, 1933, for the rating of all present and future compensation cases.
7. There is prohibition against reduction or discontinuance to widows, orphans, or dependent parents who were receiving benefits March 19, 1933.
8. There is a provision that any veteran who will sign a certificate that he is unable to meet the expense will receive hospitalization and transportation to and from the hospital for non-service-connected "disability, disease, or defect" within the limitations of the Veterans' Administration facilities, for those not dishonorably discharged.

9. The limitations as to receipt of joint pension and salary while employed by the Federal Government will not apply to World War cases.
10. The provision for reduction for compensable persons outside the continental United States is eliminated.

Stroke Fatal

Miss Addie Stiles, 62, Dies Of Apoplexy

Funeral services for Miss Addie Ulala Stiles, 62, were conducted at the Union Methodist church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Rev. J. B. Tabor, pastor, assisted by the Rev. John L. Teague, a retired Methodist minister, the Rev. C. C. Herbert, pastor of the Franklin Methodist church, and the Rev. Eugene R. Eller, pastor of the Franklin Baptist church.

Miss Stiles died at the home of Mrs. Alice Childers, where she had been making her home for several years. She had spent the day visiting neighbors and was only sick about an hour. Death was attributed to a stroke of apoplexy. She was a member of the Franklin Methodist church and a member of the F. S. Johnston Bible class.
She is survived by one brother, Charlie Stiles, who lives near the Cozad Roller Mill.
