MONS . . . too many The Rev. Frederick S. Fleming, ctor of Trinity Church, New rk, America's wealthiest parish, oposed the other day that the arches should declare a moratorium on preaching. "There are too ny sermons," he said, "and they usually the least important and nderest part of the church vice."

I am inclined to think that Dr. Fleming is right. I have been listening to sermons all my life and the ally interesting and vital ones that have heard I could count on my ngers and toes. Dr. Fleming thinks at the sermon is a survival from e old days when few people could ad and that it has no place in dorn religious observances.

I believe a sermonless church vice could draw much larger ngregations and be more inspiring than most of the present day rvice are. Preachers, like everydy else, should talk only when ey have something of consequence ay.

OUTH . . . don't lecture

Another point which Dr. Fleming ade in his annual report is that urches generally are not handling e problem of youth intelligently effectively. "The Christian re-

New Fabrics Feature Fall Fashions

Canal. A friendly dog swam after him, playfully tried to scramble up on the boy's back, and the boy was drowned.

There was no evidence whatever that the dog was vicious. He was doing just what any dog, used to playing with boys, might have done.

What makes the whole affair so silly is that otherwise sensible people acted as if a dog were a responsible human being. The notion that animals have human attributes, think human thoughts or act from human motives is a popular and widely-held absurdity, fostered by tales of the "bed-time story" type.

Sometimes I think that most people never grow up.

American Boy Offers World of Adventure

During the coming year AMERICAN BOY stories will take readers into thundering transport planes, into Annapolis and through the Caribbean with the Navy, into the soundless tangles of Georgia's Okefenokee swamps, and even into an imaginary future of space ships, strange machines and science. All are swift-moving, instructive and gripping.

There'll be stories of the true adventures of David Irwin, the young man who, for four years, alone, wandered across the arctic barrens by dog team, going months without seeing a human being and eating only frozen fish. And there'll be Roscoe Turner's inside story of the famous London-to-Melbourne air race.

There'll be advice on hobbies, sports tips from famous coaches and players, suggestions on money-earning and low-cost travel, and articles on dog training, nature's oddities and tomorrow's airplanes.

There'll be stories about the favorite characters of a million boys—Bonehead Tierney, detective; Square Jaw Davis, engineer; Hide-rack, the red-gold collie; Alan Kane, scientist; and Lee, midshipman.

THE AMERICAN BOY costs only $1 a year, or $2 for three years, foreign subscriptions 50 cents a year extra. Send your name, address and remittance to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. Service will start with the issue you specify. On news stands, 10 cents a copy. (adv.)
