

This Month On the Farm

JUNE

is what the weeds don't like to see."
—Sez Bolivar P., sez he.

June is one of the busiest months on the farm. Here are helpful suggestions from State college extension specialists and research workers which farmers may find both profitable and advisable:

Agronomy

Extension Agronomist Enos Blair suggests that since June is harvest time for small grain in North Carolina, the grain should be harvested when it is dry, and if shocked in the field, the shocks should be built so as to withstand wind and so capped as to "shed" rain.

The second important job is the cultivation of growing crops. Cultivate corn, cotton, and tobacco steadily during June at least every week or 10 days. The third job is to get soybeans and cowpeas planted on the stubble land left after the small grain is harvested. Fourth, corn and cotton should receive a top-dressing of nitrate of soda this month. The rule for cotton is at the first chopping and for corn when the plants are two to three feet high.

Poultry

Roy Dearstyne, head of the State college poultry department, says hot weather only adds to the problems of the poultry grower. In the case of young birds, some of the things to remember are: vaccinate against pox, eliminate overcrowding, separate the cockerels from pullets, plan the diet of growing birds, build summer range shelters, provide plenty of fresh clean water, and check the birds for intestinal parasites. Then, for older birds, Dearstyne suggests the culling out of unprofitable layers, providing ample ventilation in the laying house, checking for lice and mite infestation, removing males from flock, collecting eggs several times a day, storing them in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place, and marketing them frequently.

Livestock

Earl H. Hostetler, professor of animal husbandry, says June is one month when beef cattle, sheep, and swine need but scant attention. The beef cattle and sheep should be on pasture, and except for salt and water, they should not need any additional feed. If permanent pastures are being used, it will be necessary to drench the sheep periodically to control stomach worms. If pigs are to be marketed in September, they will need to be put on a full feeding of grain, a protein supplement, and mineral in addition to pasture. A good pasture with plenty of shade and running water is ideal for dry sows.

Seed Storage

Here's a warning from A. D. Stuart, seed specialist. He says: "Cotton seed from some of the finest fields in North Carolina were lost to future production last fall because of improper storage. The same thing can happen to small grain this summer if the grower fails to handle his grain carefully from field to granary."

Vegetables

Robert Schmidt, vegetable horticulturist of the experiment station, says the first week in June is a good time to set sweet potato plants. Here are a few things to remember: Set the plants 10 to 12 inches apart in rows 3 to 3½ feet apart. A fairly high ridge seems to be desirable for the Porto Rico variety. If it is necessary to buy plants, insist on certified plants or plants from certified seed. Fertilizer should be applied in the ridge a few days before planting. The recommended fertilizer should analyze 3 to 4 per cent nitrogen, 8 per cent phosphoric acid, and 8 per cent potash. It should be applied at the rate of 800 pounds to the acre.

Fruits

H. R. Niswonger, extension horticulturist, says the first part of June is the best time to apply codling moth bands to apple trees and for catching the worms as they crawl down the trunk of the tree. Prepared poisoned bands may be fastened to the trunk or three layers of six-inch bands of burlap may be used. Examine these burlap bands every week and destroy the worms which collect under them.

Plant Diseases

From Dr. R. F. Poole, plant pathologist of the agricultural experiment station, come these suggestions about plant diseases: Do not harvest and sack Irish potatoes when the soil is wet, since they will heat in the containers and often rot badly. Also avoid harvesting during the mid-day on sultry days as scalds and decay may result. In sections where leaf spot diseases have caused heavy losses of cantaloupes and watermelons, resulting in premature ripening and poor quality, it is advisable to spray thoroughly with a 2-2-50 Bordeaux mixture. Since early peaches, such as the Red Birds, are susceptible to the fungus that causes brown rot, they should be sprayed from two to three times at 10-day intervals immediately prior to harvest.

Lecture And Meeting At Union June 11

A lecture and mass meeting will be held at Union Methodist church, June 11, at 11:30 a. m.

Object of meeting is to build sentiment against crime and induce obedience to law.

Let everybody in favor of these things come and help us do it.

The people who wish to do so will be given the opportunity to make a free will offering to the work.
