Received From Mrs. Cox For Library

Nine large packing cases of books for the town, library and county schools, together with many volumes for the Franklin school library, have been received recently as gifts from Mrs. Angie W. Cox. The gift of books for the Franklin school library came as a result of the bunco party sponsored recently by children of Mrs. Barrington's sixth grade. The sum of $32.32 raised for books, was sent to Mrs. Cox with a request for her help in making selections. Received from her in answer were 200 books, all new, fine selections.

This gift has started for the school an elementary library.

The large quantity of books received by the Franklin library included 100 volumes of fiction; many fine volumes for home demonstration work, to be used by Miss Florence Stalcup, and a large number of notebooks and readers for county schools. Teachers have been coming to town to get the notebooks and are delighted to have the use of the badly needed readers.

"The Flowering of New England", by Van Wyck Brooks, which is considered the finest history of American literature ever written, is among the fine books recently received from Mrs. Cox.

About 20 more books of fiction from Mrs. Cox have been shipped, and will be in circulation soon.

Their Negotiations Saw End to Russo-Finnish War

Principal figures in bringing to an end the three and one-half month war between Finland and Russia were (left to right) Viacheslav M. Molotoff, Soviet foreign commissar; Rysto Ryti, premier of the Republic of Finland; and Dr. Juho Paasikivi, Finland's outstanding expert on Russo-Finnish affairs. Ryti and Molotoff headed the groups that agreed upon terms of a peace treaty between the two countries. Russia's grip over the northern Baltic was virtually clinched by the terms of the peace treaty reached with Finland. Terms of the treaty were considered by authorities to be much harsher than pre-war Russian demands.
