MUSEUM PLANS FOR SUMMER

Pageant, Special Exhibits and Lectures to Be Given

A meeting of the friends of the Highlands Museum was held in the out-door amphitheatre of the Museum, on Sunday afternoon with an excellent attendance.

A discussion was led by the Director, Prof. Thos. K. Fitzpatrick, concerning a program for the ensuing season. Several projects were organized, including the completion of planting around the building and theatre, improvements in the interior, and the completion of several permanent exhibits. There were also proposed many projects to promote the use of the Museum facilities on a twelve months' basis, for the greater benefit of the people of Highlands.

The program for the summer will include a benefit performance sponsored by the Highlands Little Theatre, and possibly a pageant of the history of Highlands. There will also be special exhibits and lectures on mountain crafts and weaving, bird prints and illustrations pertaining to this region.

Sketching and Painting Classes
 During the week registration will begin at the Museum for a six weeks course in sketching and painting under the direction of Prof. Fitzpatrick. These classes will be open to the people who are seriously interested in furthering their ability and understanding of creative work. A children's class in craft work and sketching will be sponsored by Miss Becky White, who is well known for her children's books which contain her own illustrations.

Those interested in these classes should consult the director during this week.

State College Hints

For Farm Homemakers
 (By RUTH CURRENT)

The Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council has started a campaign to obtain the enrichment of all white bread and flour by September 1, 1942. Farm homemakers can help in this program by demanding enriched flour and bread of their local millers and grocers. The enrichment of white flour and its products is sought in the interest of improving diet, health and efficiency as a war-time measure.

From now on women's shoes will be more comfortable, with lower heels and room to wiggle your toes around. There will be more oxfords and fewer styles. Goat-skin and kid may become the scarcest of leathers.

Keep shoes in good repair. Shine daily and wear half-soles proudly as a "badge of patriotic cooperation."

Heat is the No. 1 enemy of rubber goods. The higher the temperature, the more quickly rubber gets weak, cracks and becomes sticky. Cold does not harm. Rubber's enemy No. 2 is light. Oils and greases are enemy No. 3.

Suggests Ways To Can

With Minimum of Sugar

Most farm homemakers have received their home-canning sugar certificate, and have been allotted one pound of sugar for every four quarts to be put up. "This may not sound like enough to some people," says Mrs. Cornelia C. Morris, Extension food conservationist of N. C. State College, "but it will suffice if care is used."

The Extension worker makes the following sugar-saving suggestions to home-canners: If you pack your fruit hot in its own juice you will need much less sugar than if you pack the fruit cold, then cover it with sugar-and-water syrup. Remember, sugar is not needed in canning to keep food from spoiling. But it does help the fruit to hold color and flavor. By sweetening the fruits slightly, and then heating it, you can draw out juice from the fruit itself—in many cases make it unnecessary to can any added water.

For juicy fruits, usually it's best to separate the riper fruits from those less ripe. Then you can crush the riper fruits, heat them and extract juice from them. Pre-heat the less ripe fruit, which you have set aside, in this juice. Add sugar to sweeten slightly if necessary. Fill the jars. Make sure there is plenty of juice to cover the fruit. Process in a water bath.

Certain varieties of peaches and pears may not yield enough of their own juice to make the canning liquid. You'll get more juice from these fruits if you slice them and add a little sugar before you pre-cook them. If there isn't enough juice to cover the fruit in the cans, use syrup to fill the jars—a syrup made from one or more cups of sugar to one quart of water.

Farmers Urged to Defend Both Nation and Its Soil

A nation can never be any stronger or any richer than its soil, says Earl H. Meacham, Extension soil conservationist of State College, because poor soils make poor people and weak people. He urges that farmers "defend the soil" at the same time they grow the soybeans and peanuts for oil, and produce hogs, eggs, milk and other products on the Food-for-Freedom list.

A definite program for farmers to follow in meeting their wartime goals without destroying the Nation's heritage—its soil—is contained in a new Extension War Series Bulletin (No. 2) written by Meacham and printed for free distribution by the Extension Service. A copy of this publication, entitled "Defend Your Nation and Its Soil," may be obtained by writing to the Agricultural Editor, N. C. State College, Raleigh, requesting the bulletin by name and number.

Some of the suggestions made by the Extension soil conservationist include: (1) Terrace Steep land or land that washes; (2) plant row crops on the contour; (3) do not run row crops up and down the hills; (4) protect your woodland from fire; (5) use strip-cropping wherever possible; (6) save all home-grown seed if possible; and (7) drain farm land when this is needed.

"The farmers have been assigned a vital role in the war," said Meacham, "but they can't afford to waste their soil as was done in many cases during the last war. The United Nations expect the farmers of the United States to grow enough soybeans and peanut oil to fill tank cars to reach all the way across the country and back; to produce enough 10 gallon cans of milk to build 25 pyramids the size of the great pyramid of Egypt; enough hogs to make a solid procession, two abreast, snout to tail, clear around the world; and enough eggs so that if you broke one every second, it would take 1,600 years to break them all. It can be done, and it will be done, and there is no need to destroy the soil in the doing."

Fulton Successful In Use Of Lime

Sam W. Mendenhall, county farm agent, said that anyone doubting the value of use of lime and phosphate should visit the farm of Robert Fulton in the Bethel section.

Mr. Fulton applied five tons of lime and 500 pounds of triple superphosphate to four acres of land. This land was seeded to 15 pounds of sapling clover and 25 pounds of Korean lespedeza per acre. The clover is ready to cut for hay and an estimated yield of two tons per acre is expected.

A check plot was made on land where lime and phosphate were not used, and the estimated yield will hardly be one-half ton per acre, Mr. Mendenhall stated.

The Navy offers thorough training for enlisted men in aviation schools where an increasing number of bluejackets are studying to be aviation metalsmiths, machinists' mates, ordancemen and radiomen.
