Capt. Curtis of WAAC Is Franklin Man

We are indebted to Aux. Sarah E. Setser daughter of W. L. Setser of Franklin, for sending a clipping concerning her Captain, Lawrence B. Curtis, who is a native of Franklin. Aux. Setser joined the WAACs last October and is now stationed at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga. Capt. Curtis, who is now Supply Officer for the WAACs at Ft. Oglethorpe, has become noted at his station for his ability to perform veritable sleight-of-hand tricks in conquering his problems of supplying the Third Training Center of the WAACs with everything from blankets to blackboards.

Capt. Curtis is accountable, personally and financially, for every single item of clothing issued to the Third Training Center at Ft. Oglethorpe. To date over 10,000 women have come to the Fort for training.

Born in Franklin, the son of R. B. Curtis, now of Demorest, Ga., he attended Franklin High School, where he was active in football and sports. He was graduated here in 1925; the following day he enlisted in the army. He has seen many kinds of service, both in the United States and in Panama. He has been with the WAAC ever since its inception. In many cases, he has accomplished the impossible.

Before attending Quartermaster Officer Candidate School in Camp Lee, Va., he had been a First Sergeant for two and a half years. He was commissioned a Second Lieut. on July 1, 1942; within two weeks he had been promoted to First Lieut. And he received his Captaincy at Fort Oglethorpe last week. Even now Capt. He wrote, "I am sending the money order to Mrs. Brendle, also a few words of encouragement. . . I must say I can't forget the fine way that everyone treated me there. When I got back here, the first thing I told the boys was the fine hospitality the folks showed and what fine people live up there in North Carolina."

If you are having a busy Sunday morning and are planning to produce a warm, syrupy pie for Sunday dinner in record time, try this idea. Prepare the pie completely the day before and store unbaked in the refrigerator overnight. Then, after church and while the dinner is cooking, place it in the oven for baking.
