TO PREPARE ENGINES FOR WINTER

Antifreeze used last winter and saved for re-use this winter should be tested. In time antifreeze loses its strength and its non-corrosive properties. Nearly all manufacturers of permanent types of antifreeze have made up acid and rust inhibitors for restoring resistance of used antifreeze. In adding new material, it is wise, the Office of Defense Transportation says, to use the same brand used in the first place. A free pamphlet entitled "Cooling System: Cleaning, Flushing, Rust Prevention, Antifreeze," that tells about the caree of water-cooling systems in engines used in automobiles and farm equipment will be sent to those who resuest it. GERMANY FAR FROM "COLLAPSE"

The German Army has nearly three times as many combat divisions in the field today as there were when the attock on Poland began four years ago, Major General George V. Strong, assistant chief of staff G-2 (Military Intelligence) declared recently. Discounting any like-lihood of an early collapse of either Germany or Japan, General Strong disclosed that the Germans had replaced the 20 divisions lost at Stalingrad last winter, and that the German Luftwaffe was larger now than in 1939. He said also that the weapons the Germans are making are some cases better than any which the United Nations

ONE QUESTION QUIZ

Q. Why are point values set so high on canned pineapple, vacuum-packed whole kernel corn, tomato catsup, and other items?

A. OPA says that the point value of each item is figured on the basis of its supply and the amount that can be moved into consumption from month to month without draining the supply to too low a level. Any item which moves faster than its schedule movement is increased in point value. If it value is lowered.

DENTIST VISITS MACON SCHOOLS

Dr. Stevens Here For Oral Hygiene For Children

Dr. C. W. Stevens, dentist, from the Oral Hygene Division of the North Carolina State Board of Health, arrived in Franklin, Monday, October 4, to conduct a mouth health program in the white schools of Macon county, for a period of five weeks. He is accompanied by Mrs. Stevens and children. Dr. Stevens, according to the County Health Officer, has had valuable training in the field of children's dentestry. 'The first program is now in progress at now in progress at Slagle school, next week ht will be at Iotla school, and the future programs will be announced.

Dr. Stevens, who has been our school dentint for the past six years, states that he is glad to be back among his good friends here, who have always given him splendid cooperation.

The program is twofold in purpose, explained Dr. Stevens. It is both educational and corrective. It is educational in that every child will be taught the advantage of a clean, healthy mouth and the relationship of a diseased mouth to diseases in general. This is accomplished by means of classroom talks, charts, posters, and projects of various kinds, including talks to Parent-Teacher meetings and civic organizations.

Every child in the schools visited will have the opportunity of an inspection of his mouth. The child with a family dentist is expected to go to him for necessary treatment. If such a child is found to have dental defects, his parents will be notified by mail. The underpriviledged child under 13 years of age may secure treatment frod the visiting school dentist if desired. However, due to shortage of dentists, he will not be able to visit some of the schools.

Dr. Stevens stated that the Division of Oral Hygene was created through the efforts of the dentists of North Carolina and carries with it their fullest cooperation. This program is a part of the activities of the local health department and is highly endorsed by the board of education. He regrets that he will not be able to visit some of the schools, due to lack of assistance on account of war conditions.

State College Hints For Farm Homemakers By RUTH CURRENT

Enameled and granite ware usually can be cleaned very easily by washing with soap and water, but, when food is burned or stuck to the pan, soak the utensil in water before you try to clean it. Avoid sharp scrapers and do not use stee wool or a coarse scouring powder on enamel ware. A mildly alkaline cleaning powder will not harm it and, sometimes, boiling a weak solution in a granite ware or enamel ware pan will remove burnt-on food.

A warning about one of the newer finishes, chromium platchurches and their good people ing, will direct you in taking care of household metals. Never under any circumstances use metal polishes or any kind of cleaning powder on a chromium fin-ish. It is a soft metal and the plating wears off easily. It is easy to keep it clean with just a damp cloth.

And next, a reminder about one of the older metal favorites for kitchen utensils, iron. You can scour iron with steel wool and use a strong alkaline soap to remove grease. One of the most important rules about the use of iron is to always keep it throughly dry. Even a little moisture may cause it-to rust.

If the iron does become rusty you can remove the rust with steel wool. Put a thin coat of saltless oil or fat over any iron utensil, which you use only once in a while. Then wrap it in paper and store in a dry

For galvanized buckets, tubs, and garbage palls, you can safely use coarse scouring powder. Don't try to keep tin shiny because if you keep shining it, likely you will take off the thin coating of tin. That exposes the basic metal which may rust. Dry tin pans carefully for this reason. If you want to take off some particularly hard-to-remove burnt food, try boiling a

Red Cross Makes 215,600 Bandages In Year

The surgical dressings group of the Red Cross has just com-pleted its first year. A check of the records and roll shows that in this time a total of 266 women have shared in this work with 9,225 hours to their credit, completing approximately 215,-600 bandages.

The War Department has appealed for a large increase in this production record to the women of the nation, in view of the greatly increasing need on the battle fields. This chapter will have its proportionate share of this new need, and this appeal goes to every woman little soda and water in the tin pan. But never boil it longer than five minutes at the most. In Macon county who can render this service to the sick and wounded. The work room is than five minutes at the most.

At The Theatre

There have been films of men in battle, fighting with weapons and against the foes of this war, but it has remained for a story of women to personalize the struggle in terms wholly withing the grasp of the people at home. This story of nurses on Bataan captures and transmits the emotional experience of the last bitter days of Philippine fighting. That it does so yithout portraying a battle, with small recourse to melodrama and yet without) softening the hard core of fact, is proof of the worthy handling of an heroic subject. And the gallantry of the American girls, the natural intermingling of humor and pathos, the poignancy of the love story, suggest a strong popular appeal that should make itself felt at the box office. See Claudette Colbert, Paulette Goddard and Veronica Lake star in their greatest role yet. See "So Proudly We Hail" at the theatre today. It's for customers, not critics, to say which one if any of a series of comedies so successful as the Bud Abbot-Lou Costello collections in the best of the lot, but it's not outside the province of the exhibitor to tell the customers that this one did to and for the Hollywood press reviewers more than any since "Buck Privates" sprawled them in the aisles.
