First Time County Fails To Meet Quota In Bond Drive

Service Men In Charge Of Mrs. E. K. Curningham Booth Next Saturday Passes Friday Buy That Bond!

Figures received from the Federal Reserve Bank, Richmond, Va., showed that Macon county had purchased a total of $153,634.00 to date in bonds in the Seventh War Loan Drive, it has been announced by Gilmer A. Jones, co-chairman.

The total of "E" bond sales have reached $92,640.00, which is far short of the quota of $164,000.00 in the "E" bond series given to Macon county. The overall quota for the county was $218,000.00, and if we reach our quota we will have to buy and sell $64,366.00 more, and only a few more days to go.

Can we look our boys in the face when they come back when they know that we have not kept our faith in them and not done our share toward helping win this war by buying war bonds? Is it asking too much of the people here at home to deprive themselves of a few luxuries and buy a few more bonds when it is most needed? It cannot be that we are losing interest in the boys and not car-ing if they win the war for us, or is it only negligence?

The bond booth in the Bank of Franklin Saturday will be under the supervision of S/Sgt. Thomas E. Setser, who recent-ly returned from England, and other service men who have been giving their service for their country, as well as buy-ing bonds. Buy bonds Saturday and show these service men that you appreciate what they are doing.

Buys Half Million Dollars Truman Lauds Agreement Signed By 50 Nations For World Peace

Wordy and weighty are the prefatory lines of the United Nations Charter. Its text, as given to the Conference by Secretary of State, Stettenius at San Francisco, begins with the following lines. Representatives of fifty nations signed the completed document:

CHAPTER I Purposes and Principles Article 1

The purposes of the United Nations are
1. To maintain international peace and security, and to that end: To take effective collec-tive measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace and for the suppres-sion of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace, and to bring about by peaceful means, and in conformity with the principles of justice and international law, adjustment or settlement of international disputes or situations which might lead to a breach of the peace.

2. To develop friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, and to take other appropriate measures to strengthen universal peace.
3. To achieve international co-operation in solving international problems of an economic, social cultural or humanitarian character, and in promoting and encouraging respect for human rights and for the fundamental freedoms for all without restriction as to race, sex, language or religion; and

4. To be a center for harmonizing the actions of nations in the attainment of these com-

Mr. Truman told the assembled statesmen that they "Had justified the confidence and hope of peace-loving people." Army, Navy and Marine personnel, including WACS, WAVES and SPARS, stood behind the President in a half circle while he delivered his address. "With this charter the world can begin to look forward to the time when all worthy human beings may be permitted to live as free people". . . . "If we should falter in the future in our will to use it, millions now living will surely die.".., "Let us not fail to grasp this supreme chance to establish a world-wide rule of reason—to create an enduring peace under the guidance of God", said President Trumen dent Truman.

Judge John J. Parker, Senior court of appeal speaking at the banquet held at Hendersonville Monday night for Senators and their guests, explained that "World Organization" provides a framework under which the world may be ruled by law and reason.

Not Perfected

Judge Parker impressed the point upon his listeners that the San Francisco Charter was just a good beginning. "There are provisions in the Charter which may not appeal to all of us", he said, but, "if we wait for world organization until we can agree on a charter that pleases everybody we shall wait forever. Let us thank God that we have been able to make so good a beginning; and upon this as a foundation let us go forward with the building of the temple of peace. An ideal world organization cannot be built in a day. It will be a labor for many years, but the charter agreed upon at San Francisco gives us a foundation upon which we can build it".

D. Hiden Ramsey, general manager of the Asheville Citizen-Times, introduced Judge Parker at the Hendersonville senatorial pow-wow. Monroe M. Redden of Hendersonville was toastmaster.
