WEIMAR JONES BUYS THE PRESS

Experienced Newspaper Man To Take Active Charge Dec. 1st

Weimar Jones, who recently bought The Franklin Press and Highlands Maconian, rived in Franklin Wednesday, and will take active charge December 1.

The new owner, who comes The Press from The Asheville Citizen, acquired the newspaper and printing business from William S. Johnson and the estate of Mrs. J. W. C. Johnson several weeks ago. He deferred announcement of his plans, however, until this week, pending the outcome of a series of eye operations.

Mr. Jones has had wide newspaper experience, ranging from the two and a half years he owned and edited The Tri-County News in Andrews to a year with the Associated Press. During the latter period he covered the Florida and Georgia legislatures and was sta-tioned in Raleigh as capitol reporter for the AP. Earlier, he served as circulation manager of The Greensboro Record.

In 1928, after a short period with The Charlotte Observer, he joined the staff of The Asheville Times. On that paper he was successively state editor, telegraph editor, and news and city editor. In 1940, he transferred to The Citizen as a reporter, and has been with the Asheville morning daily ever since, with the exception of a period in 1943 when he was in Raleigh as state director of the Office of War Information.

A native of Franklin, Mr. Jones is the son of the late Judge George A. Jones and of Mrs. Jones.

Mr. Jones will be assisted in the business by his wife. Mrs. Jones is well known in church, club, and P. T. A. circles in Asheville and Weaverville. She is treasurer of the Friday Book club in Asheville, secretary of the Weaverville Music club, and a member of the Asheville chapter of the Pan-American league and of the Weaverville book club. She has served three president of the Weaverville Parent-Teacher association, and has often appeared before other associations as guest speaker. Prior to her marriage, she taught, and later did office work.

She and their 11-year old daughter, Elizabeth, will move to Franklin later, probably at the end of the present school semester. The Joneses' son, Sgt. W. G. Jones of the army air corps, recently was assigned to the AAF liaison office at Moore General hospital, Swannanoa, where he shortly will be joined

Reported Missing Since November 12th

Lieut. (j.g.) Stephen Dechman, 33, was reported by the Navy to be missing on Monday, November 12, about 8:30 o'clock when the plane on which he was a passenger from Palm Beach, Fla., to Washing-ton, D. C., was forced to make a landing in an extremely dense fog.

The plane ran out of gas, according to the report made by the navy to Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Dechman, who left immediately receipt of the message from the navy stating that their son was missing over the Potomac river at Indian Head, Md., and due to the heavy fog, did not know that the passengers were going down into the river.

There were six passengers on the plane, which was piloted by Pilot Livingston, son of Dr. Livingston, of Wadesboro, Mrs. Dechman stated, following her return from Washington, where she contacted Lieut. (j.g.) Carolyn Bohanan, in the WAVES who, bailed out and landed in the Patomac River and was soon picked up by a fisherman's boat. She and Commander Mears were the only two survivors, and WAVE Bohanan said

Lieut. Dechman was born
Lakeland, Fla., on May 16, 1912, and received his early schooling in Jacksonville. He graduated from a school of architecture. from the University of Florida, and was a member of the A. T. O. Fraternity. He was practicing architecture before entering the navy in 1943. He graduated from Quansett before going to Banana River where he spent several months. He was then transferred to Anacostia for advanced training in photographic interpretation.

Lieut. Dechman, who left for the Pacific in July 1944 was on the staff of Admiral Sample, photographic interpretation, task force 22. He was in three major battles on Leyte, Mindora and Okinawa, and was flown from Okinawa to Guam following his release for his furlough. He was then flown to Pearl Harbor where he was when V-J Day came. After his return to the states he spent some time with his wife, the former Miss Lorraine Eddy, of Evanston, Ill., and two sons, Stephen Eddy Dechman and Thomas Morgan Dechman, II. He also visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Dechman, of Gneiss, who purchased "Skywater", the property of the late W. R. C. Smith, of Atlanta.

Eye Examination Clinic For School Children Dec. 10th

Sponsored By Lions Club And County Health And Welfare Depts.

The Franklin Lions Club, together with the County Health Department and the County Welfare Department, will spon-sor an Eye Examination Clinic for school children in need of such service December 10, 1945. An ophthalmologist from Duke sepital, Durham, will be in charge.

The Clinic is free to those children who are in need of such assistance. The glasses, if needed, may be procured at a minimal cost or in some cases free, through the Lions Club. The Club is especially anxious that all school children in need of such service attend the Clinic.

It will be necessary for those wishing the service to contact the Welfare Department prior to the Clinic in order that they may be certified, if found in need, for this service.

All school children who have not had a preliminary eye examination in school must call at the Health Department for this examination on December 3 or 4 after having called at the Welfare Department in order to obtain certification for the service.

As the Clinic will serve only forty people, it is very impor-tant that all school children call at once, together with any others who feel that they qualify for this service.

It is difficult, at this time, to obtain an eye examination clinic and there will probably not be another for six months. It is especially important that all school children, qualifying for this service, contact the Wel-fare Department at once.

the booth at the Bank of Franklin. Miss Nora Leach is chairman, and will be assisted by Mrs. Zeb W. Conley, Mrs. J. Ward Long, Miss Lillie Rankin and Mrs. Carl W. Slagle.

All those who promised to canvass the different sections of the town and county are urged to complete their work as soon as possible.

Farmers

To Elect Committeemen For AAA Program

Over 350,000 Tar Heel farmers will have the opportunity on November 30 to go to the polls and elect more than 9,000 active farmers who will sit down with them and help plan a conservation program based on actual needs of their farms to speed reconversion of the State's farmland from the strain of wartime production, R. Flake Shaw, Secretary, North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation pointed out this week.

"A large 'vote of confidence' will enable elected AAA Committeemen to do their job with the knowledge that their neighbors are supporting them, Shaw said.

"One of the main programs that the newly elected AAA committeemen will administer during the coming years is the 1946 Agricultural Conservation Program", he declared. "The conservation program, this year has been decentralized with with counties and communities allocated funds for developing their own soil and water con-servation practices," he continued.

"To speed reconversion of the State's farmland from the strain of wartime production the most capable farm leadership in the counties and communities are needed," he explained. "The AAA always has taken the position that those operations which are intimately tied up with the farmer's economic welfare can best be administered by the farmer himself Many grave problems lie ahead for agriculture and I hope that every eligible farmer in the State will attend his local election meeting and voice his opinion for the men of his choice to represent him considering the problems and demands of the coming year." Shaw concluded.

Almost Half Of County's Quota of $4,000 Raised By Highlands Section

In the final campaign of National War Fund, Macon county again has come through to reach its goal. The quota assigned by United War Fund of North Carolina was $7,000.00, and by reason of the averages subscribed in the two previous campaigns it was necessary to raise only $4000.00 this time. Credit was allowed by the State office for the averages sent in in 1943 and 1944.

While we had actually less money to raise this year than last, it was by far the hardest campaign of the three years. After the strain of the past four years it was only natural that people have a let-down in

Franklin Panthers

Win Over Murphy Bulldogs 7-0 Thanksgiving

The Panthers closed their season Thanksgiving Day with a decisive 7-0 victory over the Murphy Bulldogs.

an off-side penalty.
