Beg Your Pardon

In the list of the newly elected directors of the Macon County Building and Loan association in last week's Press, one name erroneously appeared as L. C. Calloway. It should have read Lester C. Henderson. Mr. Henderson is one of the 10 men reelected as directors of the association.

Farm Movie To Visit Score Of Macon Communities

A series of joint meetings for farm families has been arranged for February by the county agent and his assistants and the home demonstration agent, at which educational films and color slides will be used to illustrate lectures on farm topics, it was announced this week.

Poultry production, increasing dairy products, hay making, and the culture of small fruits are among the topics to be discussed and illustrated? Their production will be urged, both for home use and as a means of increasing farm and home income.

The pictures, it was said, are entertaining as well as educational, and the agents believe the meetings will be enjoyed by the entire family.

In announcing the places and dates the pictures will be shown, the agents suggested that farm families will want to select the points nearest their homes and attend there.

The schedule follows:
 Monday, February 3: Slagle

Farm Machinery Repair Pays In Dollars And Safety

Predicting that new farm machinery will continue to be hard to get in 1947, Prof. David S. Weaver, head of the agricultural engineering department, State college, says it is highly important that Tar Heel farmers get their present equipment in shape for this year's work.

"Farm machinery that is poorly conditioned reduces an operator's alertness, is irritating and fatiguing, and fosters carelessness," Prof. Weaver maintains, pointing out that timely servicing of all farm equipment before field work starts will reduce accidents as well as costly field breakdowns.

For safety's sake, farm machinery repair should begin with a thorough check, he says, citing the National Safety council's reminder list of things that should be gone over. They include hitches, seats, clutches, wheels, brakes, steering, and unguarded parts such as gears, chains, shafts, fuel lines, and wiring. Leaky fuel lines or hazardous wiring can easily lead to a disastrous fire. Trash and grease should be removed from platforms, pedals, foot rests, or steps if safe footing is to be assured during operation.

An alarming number of accidents occur each year from home-made labor-saving equipment, Prof. Weaver says, advising that special care be taken in checking such equipment.

State College Answers Timely Farm Questions

Q. How can higher yields of soybeans be secured?

A. The agronomy staff of the N. C. Agricultural Experiment station suggest that you keep in mind these three important steps in soybean production: Lime the soil with dolomitic limestone in accordance with the requirements as shown by soil tests; fertilize with adequate amounts of phosphorous and potash; and plant a good stand of an adapted variety.

 J. Is it safe to eat canned food that has frozen?
 A. Freezing alone won't hurt canned foods, according to food specialists of the State college extension service, who say it is the after effects of the freezing that may cause trouble. By this, they mean if the freezing of the food causes it to swell and break the jar or the airtight seal, then you can look for trouble, as bacteria will be allowed to enter. If you find leakage in a jar, use the food immediately. Upon opening, if you detect even the slightest signs of spoilage, destroy the food immediately.
 Q. What can I do to kill mites on strawberries?
 A. B. B. Fulton, entomologist for the N. C. Experiment station, says that Dinitro dusts have been found effective in the control of mites, and though some burning damage may be received through the use of this material, he feels that its use is justified when a heavy outbreak occurs.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Sam Abernathy Holds the Line!

Folks in our town have been making mighty complimentary remarks about Sam Abernathy. In spite of talk about inflation, Sam's prices—(say, on eggs for instance)—are what they were a year ago.

"Shucks," says Sam, "Don't give me credit. I get my eggs from Slim Hines' dairy farm. Slim hasn't raised his wholesale prices, because Bert Childers has kept his price the same on chicken feed. It works by mutual agreement!"

And there again you have Self-Regulation, doing what no law could ever do! Like Self-Regulation in the Brewing Industry... Brewers and tavern keepers get together by mutual agreement to maintain decent, law-abiding standards among places that sell beer.

From where I sit, the more you leave things up to the people themselves, the more you get the kind of results America is famous for—co-operation by mutual agreement. Or, if you want another name for it, self-regulation!
