Rarin' to Go

Back home and rarin' to go, is 12-year-old Donald Stegall, fully recovered from infantile paralysis. Donald was rushed to a Richmond, Va., hospital where a throat operation and 12 weeks in an "iron lung" saved his life. The people of Fieldale, Va., the textile community where Donald's family lives, contributed nearly $3,000 in an outpouring of sympathy for the Stegalls.

ries both their best flavor and their highest content of vitamin C. Studies showed that berries which ripen on the plant are better in flavor and higher in vitamin C than when picked green and allowed to ripen afterward.

State College Answers Timely Farm Questions

Q. What hybrid corn variety is recommended for silage?

A. For silage, the N. C. 26 variety is preferred. J. O. Lutz, Catawba county farmer, said he had used this variety and liked it better than the real silage corn. It gave him, on his land, from 18 to 20 tons of silage per acre.

Q. How should corn be spaced to produce 100 bushels per acre?

A. Earle Brintnall, Catawba county agent, received this query from a farmer, and here is his answer: "A little figuring might help out in this matter. It will require about 115 to 120 ears of hybrid corn to produce a bushel of corn. If you plant your corn in 3 1/2-foot rows, you will have to space it about 15 inches in the row in order to get 10,000 stalks to the acre. These 10,000 stalks should furnish you with enough ears to make 100 bushels or more."

Q. How can I maintain high quality in summer-time eggs?

A. Follow good management practices from nest to market. Produce infertile eggs. Gather eggs quickly, at least twice a day, and put them in a cool place. On the farm a well-ventilated, cool cellar is a good place to store them. Pack them in egg cases as soon as they are cool, and market them quickly, at least twice a week. A wire basket is a good container to gather eggs in if quantity is large. Store the home supply in the refrigerator. When taking eggs to market, keep them in the shade.

Q. How does a 12-inch tree compare with a 10-inch tree in production of lumber?

A. A 12-inch tree has twice as much wood in it as a 10-inch tree, and the timber in the large tree is of better quality.

Q. Are all strawberries of equal value in vitamin C content?

A. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that tests of many varieties of strawberries show that the same condition which produce fine flavor in any variety of strawberry also produce highest vitamin C content. Sunshine, long period of daylight, cool nights and moderately warm days give ber-

Need a Typewriter?

THEN IT WILL PAY YOU TO BUY A NEW ONE

Even with reasonable care, a new typewriter will give good service for 25 to 30 years. But if you should use one only half that time, the cost of owning a new machine would figure about 80 cents a month.

Compare that with the price for renting one! —or the costs of repairs on a used one!
