Miss Hurst Becomes Bride Of Jerome Beard

Miss Barbara Hurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hurst, of Cartoogechaye, was married to Jerome Beard, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Beard, of Lenoir, Sunday at 5 p. m. at the Mt. Zion Methodist church.

The Rev. Fred O. Dryman, of Lake Junaluska, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony. The church was decorated with rhododendron, interspersed with hydrangea and branched candleabra holding cathedral tapers.

A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Edith Plemmons, pianist, and Mrs. Donald Jones, vocalist. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Jones sang "At Dawning"; the traditional wedding marches were played as the processional and recessional; and during the ceremony Miss Plemmons played "Traumerel". Mrs. Jones sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the benediction.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, with a sweetheart neckline and a gathered skirt extending into a cathedral train. The coronet, full-length veil was trimmed with lilies-of-the-valley, and she carried a bouquet of white gladiolus, centered with a white orchid and showered with baby's breath and white ribbons.

Miss Emma Lou Hurst, of Washington, D. C., sister of the bride, and Miss Janet Coggins, of Lenoir, cousin of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore dresses of yellow and green taffeta with off-the-shoulder berthas, fitted bodices, and full skirts. Eveyln Conley and Camella Caroline Tinsley, the flower girls, wore dresses matching those of the bridesmaids. The attendants carried bouquets of sweetpeas and baby's breath.

Robert Hurst, of Wadesboro, brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Bill Bryant and Bruce Bryant, of Franklin.

Following a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Beard will make their home in Lenoir.

Sextant Used In Highlands
Road Surveys Given Museum

Joseph M. Aaron was a guest at Hotel Edwards last week en route to his home in Philadelphia from Miami, where he had been working on his latest book, "Confessions of a Trick Cyclist", which he said would be published this year.

The purpose of Mr. Aaron's visit here was to offer the Highlands Museum a surveyor's sextant which belonged to his grandfather, Charles E. Aaron, and used by Mr. Aaron and Mr. Kelsey in surveying the first roads in and around Highlands.

This instrument is said to be in perfect condition and is the property of Joseph Aaron's aunt, Mrs. Elsie Aaron, of Philadelphia, now in her eighty-ninth year. The offer of the sextant to the museum was made at the request of a Highlander interested in historical data, who had learned of its existence.

From the diaries of his grandfather, who was a native of Maryville, Tenn., Mr. Aaron, 73, recalled that his grandfather came to Highlands about 1870 in search of white pine timber, making the three weeks' trip on horseback, often visiting with the Indians along the way. Joseph Aaron himself lived here from 1887 to 1890, attending a boys' school conducted by his grandfather.

In Rowan County on US 70, when you cross Swearing Creek, don't imagine that the place was settled by impious or profane colonists. On the famous Trading Path linking northern traders with the Southern Indians, the creek was so-named because it was the place where traders bound themselves under oath that they would not reveal information of the transactions or happenings which they carried on in the regions beyond Trading Ford and beyond.
