FILM FEATURES CHURCH PICNIC

Work Of 'Flying Bishop' In Alaska Shown Friday At Episcopal Outing

An interesting feature of the July congregational picnic supper meeting of the Highlands Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, held Friday night, was the showing by Tudor G. Hall of the picture, "The Light of the North" in the municipal auditorium. This movie showed Bishop Gordon in the various phases of his work in Alaska, his wife and family and Alaskan scenes.

Preceding the showing of the picture, the Rev. A. Rufus Morgan, rector, said that Bishop Gordon is one of the youngest bishops in the church, that he is formerly from North Carolina, and that his territory in Alaska covers an area twice the size of the state of Texas, hence his own private plane and the name "The Flying Bishop".

Approximately 40 persons attended the showing of the picture. The picnic supper was served on the lawn at the auditorium.
