B. SEAGLE SHOOTS SELF

Had Been In Declining Health; Funeral Rites For Native Incomplete

A coroner's jury Monday held the gunshot death of Bascom Seagle a suicide.

Mr. Seagle, 65, of Dillard, Ga., Route 1, shot himself in the forehead with a .22 calibre rifle about 9 a. m. Monday, the jury found. The death occurred about half a mile from Mr. Seagle's home, on Shope Creek road. There were no eye-witnesses.

Mr. Seagle, said to have been in ill health, was reported to have several times recently threatened to take his own life.

Members of the jury, inpanelled by Coroner Jack Ragan, were C. T. Anderson, J. N. Cabe, Max Parrish, Clarence Peak, Miller Norris, and Frank Bell.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Seagle yesterday were incomplete. A native of this county, he was the son of Sam and Mrs. Hasetine Sanders Seagle.

Jaycees Having Pool Troubles

Opening the swimming pool at the golf course this summer by the Franklin Jaycees seems "unlikely, to say the least," according to the club president, C. Banks Finger.

"We had hopes of getting a filter system, but it looks almost impossible at this time," he commented this week.

A filtering unit capable of turning over 600 gallons of water a minute is needed to do the job. Mr. Finger said the Jaycees located an army surplus unit earlier in the year, but were outbid for it.

The pool water supply is "adequate", he said, but health officials have said the pool cannot open without a filtering system.

"So, we're now open for suggestions . . . and assistance," Mr. Finger declared.

The Jaycees have seven more years of a 10-year lease on the pool. Three years ago, approximately $2,000 was spent providing water for the pool.
