AGENTS TALK AT CULLASAJA

Flanagan Explains Social Security; Sale Nets $8.85

By MISS MARIE JENNINGS (Community Reporter)

Extension agents appeared on the program at the February 7 meeting of the Cullasaja Rural Community Development Organization.

James G. Flanagan, assistant farm agent, explained Social Security for the farmer and gave a report on the farm outlook for '56. Mrs. Jessie D. Cabe, assistant home agent, brightened the '56 predictions by explaining how to boost farm income by "Raising a Square Meal Around the House."

A 4-H garden contest will be sponsored by the community for any interested members of the 4-H club.

It was decided to hire W. L. Hall to paint the road signs to be erected at the side roads of the community.

The community has turned over $20.25 to the treasurer for the March of Dimes.

A "white elephant" sale was held after the business meeting and it netted $8.85. This will be used on projects for the year. Refreshments were served.

Death Claims Mrs. Jones At Belmont

Mrs. Margaret Sarah Vandye Jones, 45, wife of Roy Jones, a native and former resident of Macon County, died in Belmont at the home on February 1. It has been learned here.

Surviving are the husband, a daughter, a son, Leonard, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the First Presbyterian Church in Belmont and burial was in the Goshen Cemetery in north Belmont.

Club Picks Youth Work As Project

"Recreation for Youth" has been picked as the Patton Home Demonstration Club's project for the year, according to its reporter, Mrs. John D. Wells.

It has been decided by club members to meet with the young people each first and third Saturday nights at the community house.

At its February 8 meeting, the club heard Mrs. Florence G. Sherrill, home agent, give a demonstration on being well dressed at small cost.
