First Spaniards Visit Coweeta

The Coweeta Hydrologic Laboratory has attracted visitors from many parts of the world, but this week it is host to its first visitors from Spain.

Observing the water and forest experiments under way at Coweeta are Caesar Peraza and Louis Romero, Spanish forestry engineers. They are in this country for study, under auspices of the International Cooperation Administration.

The Spanish foresters, who have been in the United States for the past two and a half months, arrived here last Friday from Columbia, S. C., and left yesterday for Asheville. They will return to Spain after another three or four weeks' study in this country.
