MEDLIN DIES AT CLARK'S CHAPEL HOME

Services For Swain Native Conducted At Wells Grove Church

Pearly Jackson Medlin, 62, a native of Swain County, died at 6:30 p. m. Saturday of a heart attack. He was stricken at his farm in the Clark's Chapel section here. Funeral services for Mr. Medlin, who came here in February, 1951, from Graham County, were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Wells Grove Baptist Church by the Rev. W. K. Shields and the Rev. Andrew Cloer. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Medlin worked for the Ritter Lumber Company in Mountain City, Ga., as an engineer, and before coming to this county was with the Bemis Hardwood Lumber Company in Robbinsville. He was a member of the Wells Grove church and a former member of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics in Swain County. His wife is the former Miss Hattie Cogdill, of Swain County.

Other survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Iredell Cabe, of Clark's Chapel; two brothers, the Rev. Judd Medlin, of Franklin, and the Rev. Charles Medlin, of Lexington; three sisters, Mrs. John Frazier and Mrs. Alice Hyde, of Bryson City, and Mrs. Otis Franklin, of Franklin; and three grandchildren.

Serving as pallbearers were Cliff Cook, Roy Conley, Guy Wiggins, H. Hyde, and Harvey Seay.

Clark Family Has Reunion Sunday At Ellijay Church

By MRS. VERNON BRYSON (Family Secretary)

Descendants of the late Joseph Clark met at the Ellijay Baptist Church on Sunday, July 22, for their annual reunion.

Wiley Clark, chairman and annual speaker, had charge.

Mrs. Leslie Young welcomed the clan to the church. The Rev. Joe Bishop spoke at the morning service.

Hiram Williams, of Seneca, S. C., gave a brief history of the Ellijay area. He noted that the Ellijay church was the first he ever attended. He listed the early settlers in the area as Moores, Higdon, Henrys, Stwinters, Stanfields, Ledfords, Minceys, Houstons, Peeks, Williams, Youngs and Gregorys. Among these pioneer settlers was Jimmy Clark. He and his wife had two children, Sally Clark and Joseph Clark, and a step-son, Logan Berry. The son, Joseph, the grandfather of the clan, reared 11 children. Four are still living. They are Robert Clark, of Gainesville, Ga., Mrs. Sarah Davis, of East Orange, N. J., Mrs. Lillie Williams, of Seneca, S. C., and Mrs. Minnie Stwintner, of Franklin, Route 5.

In his talk, Mr. Williams recalled his first day in school and described in detail the clothes he wore on that day, 68 years ago—total cost of suit, plus buttons, 18 cents. His blue back speller cost 30 cents. He called the roll of his classmates from memory—Harriet, Anna, and Logan Clark, Fannie, Ruth, and Fronnie Young, George and Dorcus Buchanan, Bill, Clingman, and Jane Brown, George Gregory, Molly Maude Mincey, and Lee and Laura Henry. The oldest man present at the reunion was Estes Bumgarner, 80, of Sylva. The oldest lady was Mrs. Maude Gregory, 74, of Franklin, Route 5.

The historian, Mrs. Preston O'Kelly, spoke and requested information on the clan. She hopes to have the family history in book form by next year.

All officers of the family were reelected. They are Mr. Clark, chairman, Mrs. Vernon Bryson, secretary, and Mrs. O'Kelly, historian.

Those from out-of-state attending included Mr. and Mrs. Henry King and boys and Hilda Clark, of Waukegan, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark and Elmer Clark and family, all of Gainesville, Ga., Hiram and Rose Williams, of Seneca, S. C., Miss Daily Smith, of Charlotte, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Early and son, Claude, of Marion.

It was announced that there were no deaths in the family in the past year.

The group decided to meet on the same day at the church next year.

for August 12 at 2 p. m. and one in Andrews on the 12th.

JUICE FOR FLAVOR — A little lemon juice accents flavor, and more adds a delightfully new taste. It's a common seasoning... very popular, too. Lemon used in cooking gives a gourmet touch to meals. Try lemon in soups and juices, on meat and fish, fruits and vegetables, in sauces and dressings.

SOUPS — JUICES — Add a bit of lemon juice and chopped parsley to canned soup for a pepper-upper. Or serve a lemon wedge with chilled soup, and let each person squeeze his own. Lemon juice added to tomato juice or fruit juices sharpens the flavor.

FISH — MEAT — Sprinkle lamb or fish with lemon juice a few minutes before cooking—cuts down odors, adds to the flavor, and tenderizes the meat. Rub chicken or turkey inside and out with a cut lemon for white, juicy, and tender meat.

For added zest, try a big squeeze of lemon juice over fried or broiled liver, steaks or chops, the old-fashioned fried egg, or veal cutlets. Even hamburger gets a face-lift when lemon juice enters the picture. Or try baking pork chops with a slice of lemon on top. The extra special touch to make fish or meat dish tops — baste with mixture of lemon juice and melted butter.

DRESSINGS — Add grated lemon peel to your favorite fish or meat sauce — it's flavorful, quick, and easy too. Let a generous squeeze of lemon form the base of a flavorful salad dressing, taking the place of oil and with many less calories. Or add lemon juice to commercial mayonnaise or French dressing to pep up any salad.

State College Answers Timely Farm Questions

Q. Should I shut my cows up in a dry lot at night?

A. No. Experiment stations results prove that cows do approximately three-fourths of their grazing at night during the hot summer months. Plan to have good pastures for night grazing to take advantage of this.

Q. I would like to start a small flock of chickens but don't have much money to spend. What advice can you give me?

A. It doesn't take too much money to start and maintain a small flock of chickens on the farm. On practically all farms, there are some structures that can be converted into shelters. Roosts, nests, and feed hoppers can be constructed of scrap lumber, and

All-Stars Set Game On Sunday

The Franklin All-Stars will play Cullowhee here Sunday at 2 p. m. So far this season, the local team has won five, lost three, and tied one.

A game with Andrews is set here if necessary, old pails or cans can be used. If you start with only one chicken, however, make sure it's a good one and take good care of it.

Q. When is the best time to poison pine mice?

A. The ideal time to control mice is in the fall. However, they can be poisoned at this time if you have the time to spare from all the other work that needs to be done at this time of the year.
