DEATH CLAIMS J. B. WATKINS

Retired Highlands Merchant-Farmer Passes In Asheville

James B. Watkins, 86-year-old retired merchant and farmer of Highlands, died Wednesday of last week (July 25) in an Asheville hospital after an extended illness. He had been in Asheville for three years.

Funeral services for Mr. Watkins were conducted Friday at 11 a. m. at the Highlands Methodist Church by the Rev. R. T. Houts, Jr., pastor, and burial was in the Highlands Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Louise Neely Watkins; two daughters, Mrs. Louise Whitworth, of Asheville, and Mrs. Irene Russell, of Greenville, S. C.; two brothers, S. C. Watkins, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Charles Watkins, of Long Beach, Calif.; four sisters, Mrs. Annie Price, of Highlands, Mrs. Cora Smith, of Long Beach, and Mrs. Lella McGuire and Mrs. Elsie Stiles, of Franklin.

Serving as pallbearers were Charles Pierson, Sidney McCarty, Sid Carter, Frank Watkins, Fred Littleton, and Richard Howell.

Bryant Funeral Home was in charge locally.

McMeans Passes In Winston-Salem

Arnold McMeans, 53, husband of the former Miss Wyona Hughes, of the Rose Creek section of this county, died July 21 in Winston-Salem where he was employed by the Hanes Knitting Company.

Mr. and Mrs. McMeans lived at Rose Creek for several years. He was a native of Forsythe County.

In addition to his wife he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Lee Bassett and Mrs. Audrey Davis, both of Winston-Salem; two sons Kenneth McMeans, of Myers Hill, and Howard McMeans, also of Winston-Salem.

Services were conducted in Winston-Salem.
