MOPPING UP

Crews of the Nantahala Power and Light Company and Western Carolina Telephone Company have been mopping up the mess left by a severe electrical storm over the county Saturday afternoon between 2 and 3.

A power pole was blown down by the wind on Rabbit Creek Road and power was disrupted in this area about an hour. Some crop damage was reported. Power was also out about an hour in a part of East Franklin, the Lake Emory Road section, and part of the Iotla section, according to Mac Whitaker, of the power company. Lightning played havoc with telephones over the county. Crews were still working Tuesday to restore service to customers.

During the storm, a rainfall of 1.8 inches was recorded at the Franklin power plant.

Nearly dry Thursday and Friday, the storage tanks started refilling over the week-end when officials called for immediate conservation and got the cooperation they asked.

Digging a new well to boost the supply was talked at the meeting.
