All-Beethoven Program Given By Music Club

Mrs. Gilmer A. Jones, program leader for September, presented an all-Beethoven program, at the meeting of the Franklin Music Study Club last Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Weimar Jones.

Mrs. Weimar Jones, president, presided. Mrs. Don Whelan was accepted by the club as a new member and Miss Linda Beth Whelan as a junior member.

Program was as follows: Mrs. Grover Schafer gave the program notes and a paper on the life of Beethoven; Mrs. Weimar Jones played a piano solo, Sonata, Op. 27, No. 1 (first movement); Mrs. Charles W. Gidney sang 'Come Unto Me, with the accompaniment of "Moonlight Sonata", played by Mrs. Gilmer A. Jones; Mrs. Margaret Cooper played a piano solo, "Pathetique" sonata (first and second movements). The final number was a recording of the first movement of Beethoven's ninth symphony.

The president introduced the guests, Mrs. Don Smith and Mrs. S. R. Simpson.

Swafford's Sayin's

Can you tell me where the time goes? I am beginning to realize that "time flies," for another year has gone by here at the 'Ole Country Store. I hope that during the ten years here that I have been a help to you in some way.

I invested in my own Community because I knew there was not a better place—or better people as customers, friends and neighbors. I have said—and I say now—that no groceryman anywhere has a better group of customers than I have. Of course I realize there are some who feel that a country store is not good enough for them, but I try (as near as possible) to have what my customers want. There are two things, though, I do not furnish: wrecker service for "stuck-ups" or a remedy for "swell heads." If you think you are above folk like my customers, just look up, you have a surprise in store for you, because, as a whole, there is not a better group of people anywhere.

You people, here and in adjoining communities, have made it possible for me to stay here in the 'Ole Country Store for ten years. I appreciate your confidence and your loyalty as customers. If I stay here another ten years (I hope you will let me) I promise you my best, in every way possible.

I wonder how many of you would send me an anniversary card, or letter? I'd love to get one from you.

P. S. Watch for an important change in this ad.

Patriotic Booth Wins For Patton

A patriotic theme gave Patton Community first place among community and neighborhood booths at the county fair.

Using "Freedom—Your Gift From America" as its main message, the prize-winning booth urged citizens to "Vote As You Think, But Vote" in the coming general election.

Iotla Community was awarded second place. The theme of this booth was "Life's Journey", with contrasting pathways to failure and success.

Third place went to the Holly Springs Home Demonstration Club for an exhibit featuring the 14 points in feminine attire.

Other booths entered: V. F. W. Auxiliary: a patriotic booth carrying out the theme of the pledge of allegiance.

Carson: A "live" exhibit with women demonstrating how to make copper articles.

Cartoogechaye: "Design For Recreation", featuring games, music, outings, and weaving against a backdrop of large alphabet blocks.

North Franklin Neighborhood: This exhibit featured, in miniature, the "before" and "after" of the organization's proposed playground at the foot of Slagle Memorial hill.

Union Home Demonstration: A reupholstering exhibit entitled, "From Ruins To Restoration".

Sophomore Agricultural Class: A cleverly arranged corn field with cut-out insects, asking: "Mr. Farmer, Are You Operating A Boarding House For Insects?"

Freshman Agricultural Class: The main item of interest in this booth was an old-time seed cleaning machine. The theme of the exhibit was, "Clean Seeds For Greater Profits".

F. F. A.: A photographic exhibit arranged to show the various activities of the local F. F. A. chapter. This is the same exhibit the chapter entered in state-wide competition.

Senior Agricultural Class: A farm in miniature, including a lounging barn with hay dryer in operation. Its theme, "Old Equipment And Modern Living."

Junior Agricultural Class: "There Is Not A Surplus Of Milk. But A Shortage Of Consumers" was the theme of this unusual display, which had milk being pumped from a milk can into a large container.

Higdonville: This was a display of the many minerals to be found in this county. Its theme was "Macon County—Rich in Minerals."

The local U. S. Navy Recruiting Station also ran a booth during the fair hours, emphasizing the many advantages of a career in this branch of the service.

An exhibit urging cooperation in helping to prevent forest fires was set up by local officials with the N. C. Department of Conservation and Development.

Lt. Carter Talks Flight Theory At Civil Air Session

Lt. Sid Carter presented a program on "Theory of Flight" at Saturday night's session of the Civil Air Patrol in Franklin.

Meeting in the pilots' lounge at the airport, the squadron made plans for recruiting more senior members and strengthening its cadet program.

Under a new ruling, cadets will be given orientation flights every Saturday and Sunday by qualified C. A. P. pilots in the plane now based with the local squadron. A duty roster for pilots is being prepared, according to Capt. A. C. Tysinger, commander.

The theory of torque is to be discussed at this Saturday's meeting, with the Hayesville cadets in charge. The meeting is set for 7:30.

Carson And Cullasaja 4-H Clubs Tie For First Place

The Carson and Cullasaja 4-H booths tied for first place at the county fair. Blue ribbons were awarded each.

Red ribbons went to Iotla 4-H and Nantahala 4-H, while whites were presented the exhibits entered by Union 4-H and Otto 4-H.

Carson's winning booth showed the "Road to Success," flanked by the "Swamp of Bad Habits," "Forest of Poor Reading," and "Valley of Laziness." At the end of the road was a large house of leadership, cooperation, dependability, honesty, citizenship, and efficiency.

Cullasaja's booth was a collection of summertime projects and crafts undertaken by the club. Its theme was, "We Have Worked All Summer."

"Safety Begins At Home" was emphasized by the Iotla booth. Nantahala's also took the safety theme using a large mirror and reminding the person looking into it that, "Your Safety Depends On This Fellow."

An exhibit of the seven basic foods won a white ribbon for Union, while Otto received one for a foods exhibit, "A Pyramid Of Varied Projects."

Brother Of Mrs. Angel Receives Cash Award

Alexander L. Setser, brother of Mrs. Furman Angel, of Franklin, has received a cash award for sustained superior performance in the past year as an employe of the South Atlantic Division of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Mr. Setser and another employe were honored for their management of a timber cutting project at Fort Stewart. The two men streamlined operating procedures to such an extent that the government netted about $1,000,000 from timber sales, it is understood. The site was being cleared for tank firing and maneuvers.
