AT PATTON CENTER — Christmas Party Is Held By Demonstration Club

By MRS. HARLEY STEWART
The annual Christmas party of the Patton Home Demonstration Club was held Dec. 18 at the community building with Mrs. Harley Stewart as hostess.

Mrs. John D. Wells led the group in a short worship service, which gave the meaning of the different symbols used at Christmas. At the conclusion of the service, a trio composed of June Wells, Martha Blaine, and Linda Ledford sang "Silent Night." As a token of appreciation for the faithfulness of the girls in singing at church and at community gathering, Mrs. Wells, president, presented each with a corsage.

Emphasis this month was placed on "Family Life" and Mrs. Ted

Blaine, the club Family Life leader, gave a talk on "Christmas Tradition Strengthens Family Ties." Quoting from Henry Van Dyke's "Spirit of Christmas," she told of the various ways of keeping Christmas, saying it can be a "hollow-day" instead of a "hallow-day" if proper emphasis is not placed on the true meaning of the day, rather than on the festive holiday.

Mrs. Anna Ledford led the members in playing a number of games. A sale of articles made by club members was held with the proceeds going to provide baskets for shut-ins in the community.

After the meeting adjourned, Martha Blaine and Linda Ledford, with June Wells at the piano, led in singing of Christmas carols.

AT CHAPEL PROGRAM — Beta Club At High School Inducts 15 New Members

Last Thursday morning during the weekly chapel program at Franklin High, Beta Club President Gary McKelvey presented certificates and swore in 15 new members of the National Beta Club.

The Rev. Donn Langfitt opened the program with a short talk on education.

Former members of the club told an audience of about 600 students what the Beta Club insignia represents. The lights were then turned out in the gymnasium and Gary lit a large golden candle and from it each of the candles held by the new and old members. This was to represent life.

District Principle Harry C. Corbin gave a short talk on the qualifications for a student to become a member in the National Beta Club.

Superintendent H. Bueck and Principle C. K. Olson also gave short talks to the student body.

The 15 new members are Frances Alexander, Shirley Cabe, Kate Buchanan, Joann Gibson, Dwain Horsley, Linda Whelan, Jackie Clark, Claudette Leatherman, Anita Woody, Tommy McNish, Katrina Elmore, Judy Wurst, Ann Sutton, Nancy Siler, and Rebecca Reeves.

Mrs. Mildred Martin is the club advisor.

FOR GIRLS — Why Not Something Different?

What do little girls want for Christmas? Dolls, of course, but perhaps you've been giving this traditional gift for several years. This Christmas, why not give her something different?

Young sub-debs of the grammar school set are surprisingly fashion-minded. Delight her with a pretty party dress with matching slippers, a crisp petticoat for her full skirts, a quilted robe and slippers for watching TV, or a bunny-fur hat and muff set. All are really glamorous, almost "grown-up" gifts.

Stocking-filling gifts for the young-at-heart could include: a birthstone ring, music box, bubble bath, a play watch, a dainty lock-et or a little leather purse.

Playing house is even more fun with miniatures—a real vacuum cleaner, a cooking set with sample foods, a sewing machine, milk-shake blender (operates on batteries), an ironing board and iron and cooking utensils. Your local toy store will have these gift ideas and many more.

You'll be remembered always if you give a teen-ager her own telephone (perhaps in a pretty pastel).

Also for the high school crowd you can't go wrong if you give them a record album of their favorites.

She'll love to receive an atomizer and bottle of perfume, or a three-piece dresser set (really distinctive with her initials) or an unusual boudoir clock. With so many things happening in these growing years, she'll appreciate a leather-bound diary.

For her holiday parties and dances later on, give her a velvet evening jacket, a glittering evening bag or a slim compact.

Frivolous bedroom slippers with roses or pompons on the toes, or in gold mesh elastic and a smart pair of lounging pajamas will brighten her "slumber parties."

No teenager seems to have too many sweaters, or jewelry! A new bulky-knit cardigan and a gold dangle bracelet will be welcome in any wardrobe.

Almost all girls, of all ages, will love to receive a pet for Christmas. Give her a fluffy kitten, a roly-poly puppy, or a colorful parakeet.

Check your gift list now and visit your local shops for the distinctive gift for your young lady!
