Franklin High Highlights
By Joann Burrell

The new sign which has been constructed on the lawn at Franklin High School was donated by the Senior Class of 1957 as a gift to the school.

The seniors at F. H. S. are now studying the Elizabethan Period in their English IV classes. The self-pitying moans and groans that are heard from seniors each year about this time are again heard throughout the high school for next week Mrs. Marie P. Steward, senior English teacher, will begin the study of Shakespeare's famous play "Macbeth". Already some of the seniors are walking around muttering all of the witches' lines from the play — "Double, double toil and trouble" — and applying the words to "those terrible, old English assignments", which they have dreaded for three whole years. The assignments aren't really "terrible", for the grades in the senior class always rise higher when the students take up Shakespeare. Most of the seniors enjoy the play "Macbeth" and use their pitiful looks and wailings only to put the "scare" into the underclassmen, as seniors have done for years in the past.

Franklinite Sets Up Loan Fund At State

A $10,000 student loan fund has been established at N. C. State College by Charles Weaver, of Detroit, Mich., a 1915 graduate of the college and a native of Franklin.

In announcing the donation from Mr. Weaver this week, Dr. Carey H. Bostian, chancellor of the college, said the benefaction will be designated the "Charles Weaver Loan Fund" and will be used to aid students enrolled in engineering and science in line with the donor's wishes.

Mr. Weaver, who was reared on Cartoogechaye, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Weaver. He is president of Charles Weaver, Inc., a Michigan sales firm handling heavy industrial equipment and is a well-known industrialist in the Midwest. Mr. Weaver entered State in 1911, and was graduated in June, 1915, with a B. S. degree in mechanical engineering.

A loan which Mr. Weaver received while a student at State led to his decision to make the donation to his alma mater. In an exchange of letters with the chancellor he recalled, "When I was in college, I found it necessary to resort to some such fund to enable me to finish college, paying it back after my graduation. It gives me more pleasure now to be able to make this donation than it was to receive help when I needed it."

CURTIS SUCCEDES

Arthur Clarence Curtis, 66, son of the late W. A. Curtis, a former owner of the Franklin Press, died January 19 in Aberdeen, Wash. A native of Hayesville, he was in the lumber business and moved to the West about 45 years ago.

Carpenters Plan Open House For 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Carpenter, of Dillard, Ga., Route 1, will celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday.

The couple will receive at an open house from 12:30 to 4 p. m. at the home of their daughter, Mrs. R. L. Burrell, Jr., in the Mulberry Community. All friends and relatives are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter have seven children, 19 grandchildren, and two step-grandchildren.

4-H Council To Plan For Annual Day

Plans for the annual 4-H Achievement Day in March will be made by the 4-H county council at a meeting Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at the Agricultural Building.

Following the council meeting, a dairy foods school will be held for girls interested in giving dairy foods demonstrations. Boys interested in demonstration of any kind will receive help at this time also, according to the assistant agents in charge of 4-H work, Mrs. Jessie D. Cabe and Clark Walker.

Asbury WSCS Is Reorganized

A meeting to reorganize the Woman's Society of Christian Service was held at the Asbury Methodist Church Sunday night.

The date for the next meeting was set for Sunday, February 9, at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. L. M. Henson. All past members and others interested in joining are urged to attend the meeting.

A project planned for the coming year is to erect stones on the unmarked graves in the Asbury Cemetery.

Miss Whelan Gets School Scholarship

Agent Says Work Will Center On Rural Development

A series of "outlook" meetings to revitalize rural community development work is now being scheduled for February, according to County Agent T. H. Fagg.

The agent said emphasis will be placed on getting inactive communities to reorganize for the '58 contest.

At one time, Macon had more than 20 communities actively participating in the program. In '57, 11 groups were active.

Entry blanks for both the county and W. N. C. contests will be filled out at the meetings.

Morris L. McGough, executive secretary of the Asheville Agricultural Development Council, has reported that 1957 was the most successful year for rural development work. A total of 112 communities competed. The Asheville council sponsors the area event.

Here is the schedule of meetings to be met by "teams" from the offices of the county and home agents:

Holly Springs, February 3; Cullasaja and Patton, February 4; Higdonville and Cowee, February 6; Clark's Chapel and Buck Creek, February 7; Iotla and Upper Cartoogechaye, February 10; Union and Sealy, February 11; Otto and Carson, February 14; Tellico, February 17; Hickory Knoll, February 18; Clear Creek and Cartoogechaye, February 20; Bethel, February 21; Pine Grove, February 24; Ridgecrest and Nantahala, February 25; and Mulberry, February 27.

RECORD IS SET

A record-breaking barometer reading of 27.99 was recorded Friday at Coweta Hydrologic Laboratory. It was the lowest reading at the station since 1944. The year the station went into operation.

The low reading was perfect for farmers, which missed none, but stuck at points in Georgia.

CENTER TO OPEN

The Franklin Teen Center will open tomorrow (Friday) night following the Franklin-Swain game here.

EDITOR TO SPEAK

Jeff B. Wilson, editor of Tar Heel Wheels, a trucking association magazine, published out of Raleigh, has been obtained as guest speaker for the annual membership dinner of the Franklin Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner has been scheduled for March 21.

Mr. Wilson's magazine is a general interest publication devoted to promoting the many advantages of the state, particularly in the tourist and industrial fields.

POULTRY MEETING

A poultry meeting for persons interested in the production of commercial eggs is set for February 7 at 7:30 p. m. at the Agricultural Building, according to County Agent T. H. Fagg.

MOTHERS TO MARCH

Keep your porch light burning tonight (Thursday) if you want to donate to the March of Dimes.

The burning light will be the signal for members of the Franklin Junior Woman's Club, who are staging their annual "Mothers' March on Polio."
