Mrs. William Morris Britt

IN SATURDAY CEREMONY — Miss Julia Moody Is Bride Of William Morris Britt

Miss Julia Elizabeth Moody became the bride of William Morris Britt, Saturday evening, June 28, at 6:30 in the Franklin Methodist Church, with the Reverend Robert E. Early, pastor, officiating, using the double-ring ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Henry W. Cabe, organist, and Miss Marie Roberts, of Asheville, college friend of the bride, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lily Calloway Moody, of Franklin, and Charles Truman Moody, of Phoenix, Ariz. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Britt, of Rowland.

Charles Truman Moody, Jr., of Austin, Tex., gave his sister in marriage and Mr. Britt, father of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride wore a full-length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over silk taffeta. The bouffant skirt was designed of ruffled tiers with overskirt of illusion paneled with lace. Her fitted bodice featured a cahlil neckline, and lace-trimmed cap sleeves, with which she wore matching mitts. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a princess crown of lace enhanced with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and babies' breath centered with a white orchid. Her only ornament was a tiny strand of pearls.

Miss Marjorie Evelyn Moody, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a deep beauty pink dress fashioned with a bouffant skirt of net over taffeta and bodice and back skirt panel of crystalette. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a fan bouquet of light pink carnations.

Mrs. Julius Scott, of Lumberton, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and Mrs. Charles Whittington, of Franklin, was bridesmaid. They chose light pink dresses fashioned like that worn by the maid of honor. They wore matching picture hats, and carried bouquets of deep beauty pink carnations.

Groomsmen were Julius Scott, of Lumberton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Otis Howell, college roommate of the bridegroom, from Monroe; Harley Carpenter, Jr., of Sylva; and Hall Callahan, of Franklin.

Mrs. Moody, mother of the bride, was attired in a pink embroidered silk organza dress with which she wore pink and white accessories. Her corsage was a fuchsia-throated white orchid.

Mr. Britt, mother of the bridegroom, chose for her son's wedding, a powder blue lace dress with which she wore white accessories and a purple-throated white orchid.

The couple greeted the wedding guests in the church vestibule following the ceremony.

Mrs. Britt is a graduate of Western Carolina College, Class of 1957. She was a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, national honorary fraternity, and "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." She taught English and journalism last year at East Mecklenburg High School, Charlotte.

Mr. Britt is a graduate of Western Carolina College, Class of 1957. He was also listed in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." Prior to his graduation, he served two years in the United States Army, and taught last year at Newell Junior High School, Charlotte.

Following the ceremony the couple left on a wedding trip to Florida and other points in the South. For traveling, the bride chose a black sheath dress with black patent and white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will live in Lumberton for the summer, where the bridegroom is employed. This fall they both plan to attend the graduate school at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

SCHOFIELD TO OPEN — Station's Lecture Series Is Starting

HIGHLANDS—The first in a series of lectures sponsored by the Highlands Biological Station will be held next Thursday night, July 10, at 8 o'clock in the Museum of Natural History building.

An illustrated talk on the botany of the southwestern Yukon will be given by Wilfred B. Schofield, of Duke University.

Mr. Schofield's summer field work well qualifies him for the lecture, according to officials of the biological station. He has collected from Cornwallis Island on the Canadian Arctic to Maknek, Alaska, and from the Canadian Rockies to Northern Manitoba and Nova Scotia. The field work in the Yukon territory was under the direction of Dr. Howard Crum, of the National Museum of Canada. The collections included mosses and flowering plants from an area that botanically speaking was poorly known. Mr. Schofield's talk will include a discussion of the nature and dynamics of the vegetation.

Graduate Student

A graduate student in the botany department of Duke, he was born in Nova Scotia and holds a B. A. degree from Acadia University and an M. A. degree from Stanford University. His master's thesis, concerned with the distribution and relationships of Hypnum (a moss) in Canada and Alaska, was directed by Dr. W. C. Steere. Mr. Schofield is now working on his doctorate under Dr. H. J. Oosting. The field work for his doctoral dissertation is now being done in the Southern Appalachians and is concerned with the nature of the transition between the spruce and fir forest with hardwood forests. The work is being supported, in part, by a National Science Foundation grant-in-aid, administered by the Highlands Biological Station.
