Brady's BLARNEY
By A Brady Called J. P.

Culls From a Newsmen's Notebook:
Harley Carpenter, of Sylva, figures this TV influence on children is undeniable. Harley was dressing the other night in formal attire, of course, for Miss Julia Moody's wedding here. "Have you ever played 'Zoro' before?" asked his young son. —jpb—
Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cochran has seen seven children go through Franklin High School and receive diplomas. He has promised to consult with the distaff side of the family and provide us with the names and dates of the graduates. —jpb—
Bob Sloan wants to assure everyone he and the Mrs. have been married for years and years. The "Just Married" was painted on the bumper of his Chevy by his daughter, Nancy Jane. —jpb—
It's a tremendous effort for a young boy, full of energy and a curiosity for living, to sit still and wait his turn at the barber chair. A tip of the hat to the two men who let the little boy go ahead of him in the line Saturday afternoon in the shop "under the drug store." "Just let him go ahead," one of them told the barber. "He's a busy man." —jpb—
Gene Pannell says the filling he's doing on the river behind the DeSoto Trail is just a cast into the future. "It's hard to stand with a man in the swamp and tell him what a building would look like there," he explained. —jpb—
A. G. Cagle reports business is picking up in his gift shop in the East Franklin intersection. But, he adds that he'd be ready to retire if he could sell as many souvenirs as the fellow next door does tomatoes! —jpb—
Those new anti-sunburn pills really work. This "perennial pale face," who would roast to medium-well in about five minutes at the swimming pool, has been taking the pills and is happy to report he's building up a beautiful tan. How wonderful to strut out in the sun like all the other boys and girls and not have to cringe in the shade for fear that a stray ray of sunshine may find you and reduce you to a clinker. —jpb—
I may be leaving town. Word is out that the chamber of commerce and radio station WFSC are going to slap me in the local bastille (jail) as a money-raising scheme. The idea will be for all of "youse good citizens" to fork over your money to assure that I stay behind bars. "It's heartwarming to be held in such high esteem by your fellowman!" ... and I may be leaving town. —jpb—

Methinks the males of this generation have gone crazy. That any self-respecting man would be caught dead walking in public in those Bermuda shorts is beyond me. Maybe my legs just aren't pretty enough. Or maybe I'm just a coward when it comes to things like that. (I even feel self-conscious when I wear my thin summer slacks. Takes me a couple of days to get used to the wind whistling through 'em). Then again, maybe I keep recalling how that fellow looked in a pair of shorts up town a couple of days back. The hair on his toothpick-like legs was black and wooly; and his legs dropped out of the bottom of the shorts looking all the world like two streams of spigot water pouring out of a 16-foot culvert. Compounding this felony on humanity were bow legs. A little kid with an all-day sucker ran between 'em—and he didn't even notice. Well, it takes all kinds. —jpb—
This ruby digging fly-in being planned by a Miami flying club is going to set a precedent (we hope). If it comes off as planned, it will be but one of many similar aerial jaunts from all over the country with the Macon County Air Port and the Cowee Ruby Mines as the hosts. A thing like this can be a tremendous boost to our economy, believe it or not. —jpb—
Why is it that everyone from Macon County spends all their vacations in Daytona? Guess it is just closer.

Macon Directors Attend Industry Group Meeting

A planning session of the newly-organized Western North Carolina Industrial Development Corporation was attended Wednesday night of last week in Hazelwood by Sam Gibson and J. P. Brady, Macon County directors. In an election of temporary officers, Mr. Brady was elected 2nd vice-president of the industrial promotion group. A campaign to raise $100,000 for promoting the western area as an "industrial paradise" is slated for this fall. It will be known as "Operation Bootstrap" and the corporation hopes to raise the money by asking each citizen to contribute 33½ cents to the cause. An order for 100,000 booklets explaining the entire project has been placed by the corporation. Details of the fund-raising project are now being worked out. Heinz Rollman, Waynesville industrialist, who conceived the idea of "Operation Bootstrap" as a means of attracting industry to this section, was elected president of the corporation. Others, elected in addition to Mr. Rollman and Mr. Brady, included T. N. Massie, of Sylva, 1st vice-president; John R. Gove, of Hendersonville, 3rd vice-president; Ned Tucker, of Waynesville, secretary; and J. C. Keeter, of Bryson City, treasurer.

Eugene Patton On Duty In Virginia

Eugene E. Patton, commissaryman second class, of Franklin, Route 1, is serving at the U. S. Naval Amphibious Base, Little Creek, Norfolk, Va. The base provides logistic support in all phases of amphibious warfare, according to the Fleet Home Town News Center. 2 Maconians End Navy Boot Training
Two Maconians have been graduated from recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill. The Fleet Home Town News Center identifies them as Keith Allen, son of Mrs. Anne B. Allen, of Franklin, Route 2, and William E. Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Elliott, of Franklin, Route 5. Graduation exercises were held

June 21 and the men are now on leave. Swine make more rapid gains in proportion to live weight than other farm livestock and they produce young when less mature. Tip moths which damage pine trees may be controlled by using

DDT in the spring.

YOUTH DIALING RADIO — Three Local Women Injured In Jackson County Accident

Three Franklin women were injured in an automobile accident last Thursday morning in Sylva, caused when a teen-ager tried to tune his radio and lost control of the car. The injured: Miss Shirley Cloer, 22, Franklin High teacher, lacerations of the face. She was released from C. J. Harris Community Hospital Monday. Mrs. Lorraine Angel Corbin, 26, shock and bruises. She was discharged from C. J. Harris the day after the accident. Mrs. Jeana Sue Cunningham Brown, 22, given dispensary treatment for facial cuts. The three local women were riding in Mrs. Corbin's automobile toward Sylva when it was struck head-on by a car, being driven by Everette Robert Griffin, 17, of Whittier, Route 1. The youth was quoted by Patrolman P. W. Sanford as saying his car went out of control while he was attempting to dial the radio. Young Griffin was treated at the hospital for body bruises. The Corbin automobile was damaged beyond repair. Location of the accident was in the straight stretch of highway near the Sylva radio station on US 19-23.

Sfc. Britton Takes Part In Exercise

Sfc. J. C. Britton, son of Mrs. Exie D. Britton, of Franklin, Route 3, recently participated in an air transportation training exercise conducted by the 8th Infantry Division in Germany, according to the Army Home Town News Center. A platoon sergeant in Company D, of the division's 8th Infantry, Sfc. Britton entered the Army in 1947. He arrived in Europe in October, 1956. Nutritive requirements of swine differ in many respects from other classes of livestock; complicated rations are hot necessary for successful pork production.

"We've found the easy way to pay for Fuel Oil!"
"Instead of making big seasonal payments for fuel oil, we've spread the expense out over the year. We're using the Phillips 66 Even Payment Plan."
The Phillips 66 Even Payment Plan is a favorite with many budget-minded homemakers. They like this new way of paying for fuel oil because it has all these advantages.
• It means smaller monthly payments spread out over a year's time.
• It eases the strain on a bulging winter budget when so many other expenses occur.
• The plan is easy and practical to use... it involves no carrying charge or service fee.
