install an upstairs telephone

It's so much more convenient to reach instead of run when someone calls. There's never a bumped shin, a stubbed toe, or a breathless "hello" with an extra telephone around.

Call our business office for full information on a surprisingly low cost extra telephone today. There's no obligation, of course.

IS EFFICIENT, TOO — As A Burley Man, Huggins Ranks Right At The Top

As a burley tobacco grower, J. L. Huggins is about tops in Macon County, according to County Agent T. H. Fagg.

Furthermore, from the standpoint of efficiency he's probably one of the best farmers around, the agent says.

"He can get more out of his little 10-acre farm than anyone I've run across lately," Mr. Fagg explained this week, following a visit to the Huggins farm on the west end of Holly Springs community.

Take his burley patch, for example. Mr. Huggins consistently gets 2,800 pounds to the acre. Compare this with the state average of only 2,000 and you can understand the county agent's comments about this farmer's efficiency. And, to take it another step, Mr. Huggins expects to get 3,000 pounds from his present burley crop.

"I consider this (the burley) one of the best I've seen in the county," Mr. Fagg declared, indicating the more than man-high crop. "And it already has been topped."

Mr. Huggins uses 4-8-10 fertilizer with an application of about 1,000 pounds to the acre.

In addition to burley, Mr. Huggins also has a hatching egg flock.

CHICKEN IS TOPS—Chicken is an important summer food because of its high food value. A quarter pound of meat will supply more than one-half of the daily protein requirement of an adult man or woman. Why not plan to have broiler-fryers often this summer, remembering these easy rules for care of uncooked chicken:

1. Keep chicken frozen until ready to use—allowing sufficient time for thawing before cooking.

2. Wrap fresh chicken loosely in aluminum foil or moisture-proof paper and refrigerate.

Consider the host of things that can be done with the broiler-fryers. They can be roasted, broiled, barbecued, fried, or rotisserie. So you can see that broiler-fryers really are a convenience food, and are even more so during the summer months. On a hot summer evening you may want to set the table outdoors and have a chicken barbecue, or plan a cool and easy main-dish chicken-salad luncheon. Fried chicken is done in a jiffy. Roast chicken with stuffing is a gala meal. And, don't forget the eating delight of a cold, sliced chicken sandwich.

SALAD DRESSING — For a quickly-made Russian dressing, mix 1/2 cup chili sauce with 1 cup mayonnaise. A little chopped pimento, vinegar or lemon juice, or pickle relish may be added. Then, for Thousand Island dressing, add a diced hard-cooked egg to this dressing.

State College Answers Timely Farm Questions

Q. What is one way to raise the average yield of oats on my farm?

A. By studying the different varieties of seed available for planting. No variety has everything. The individual grower should consider the characteristics of each, and then decide which would be the most suitable for his farm. County agents have the information needed on the various varieties.

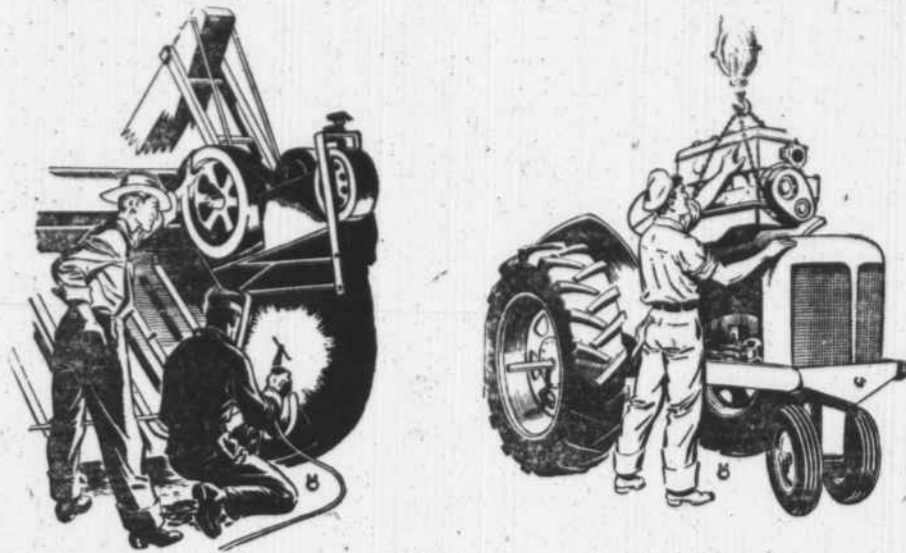

Q. Does it pay to feed silage on year around basis?

A. Dairy specialists at N. C. State College say "yes." They offer as proof the 83-cow herd at the college dairy farm. For the year ending June 30, the cows averaged 11,598 pounds of milk and 372 pounds of butterfat. The cows had quality silage available at all times. However, the amount consumed depended on the lushness of the pasture.

Q. How does North Carolina now stand in the production of livestock?

A. The state now stands 19th in national ratings. In 1948 North Carolina ranked 30th among the states in livestock income. Livestock income was up $11 million from January to May 1958 over the same period a year ago. Crop ing the same period, however. income decreased $14 million dur-
