but, before you know it, he'll be asking to use the car!

Your camera is the only way to make time stand still when the kids are growing up. Pictures of the baby's first faltering steps keep that day fresh in your mind when he's scooting around in the car. So keep your camera ready to record the big events of today that become the treasured memories of tomorrow.

We're camera fans ourselves, so we like to discuss your picture-making problems. Come in and we'll do our best to answer your questions and supply the right equipment for your needs. No obligation whatever.

Remember, the pictures you treasure tomorrow must be taken TODAY!
