No. 1

line has been losing money for many years. It has been in receivership since 1923, and the volume of freight has steadily declined. Local businessmen blame this decline, however, not on their lack of interest, but on poor service.

The receiver, H. L. Brewer, of Cornelia, submits operating revenues and expenses as proof that the line is in deep financial trouble, at least over the portion in North Carolina.

With revenues, expenses, and hire for freight cars prorated on a mileage basis, the receiver shows that 1957 was the last year even the Georgia portion made money.

In 1956, the total net operating result in Georgia was a credit of $7,578, while North Carolina had a deficit of $43,001. In '57, Georgia suddenly found its expenses exceeding revenues $208,869 to $181,031, for a total deficit of $46,220; North Carolina's deficit dropped this year to $36,410.

Last year, 1958, Georgia operated at a loss of $29,839, and North Carolina at a figure of $34,803.

Collins Fires An Eagle Two

If Franklin's sanitarian H. T. Collins is strutting there's a good reason why.

An avid golfer, he racked up an eagle on the 325-yard No. 1 Monday afternoon at the Franklin Lodge and Golf Course.

Which is to say, to you non-golfers, that Mr. Collins used only two strokes on the par four hole.

His tee shot went about 250 yards, and his second shot 75 yards into the cup.

Bryson Golfers Coming Sunday

A golf match between Franklin and Bryson City is set Sunday afternoon at the Franklin Lodge and Golf Course.
