

Facts, Figures and Farmers

MARION W. WALL, County Agent

During the past week in association with A. G. Oliver, Poultry Specialist for the State, we held community meetings at West End, Hemp, Southern Pines and Carthage. Other engagements had to be canceled on account of the illness of Mr. Oliver. At the above places an enthusiasm for better poultry in Moore county was very evident. At West End nine families agreed to start pure bred poultry; at West End eleven boys and girls are starting out with pure bred Barred Rocks while at Southern Pines we found the greatest interest in the county; Mr. Gould of that city has the most magnificent poultry plant, it is all back-yard poultry work but one of the most complete and up-to-date poultry plants in all the county. To those who want to get some real good information about poultry raising will do well to make a special trip to Southern Pines and see Mr. Gould.

Hides, Tanning and Exchange

For the last year hides have been selling at an extremely low price, so low in fact that it was hardly worth the while for the farmer to skin animals dying from unpreventable causes. If possible, however, these hides should be saved in some way and the following suggestions may be of value.

Home Tanning of Hides

Send to the Webb Publishing Co., St. Paul, Minn., for their pamphlet on home tanning which is simple and complete.

The Jacobson Publishing Co., of 136 West Lake St., Chicago, Ill., publishes two volumes on Modern American Tanning. These volumes are very complete.

Exchange of Hides for Leather

The Woefel Co., of Mirris, Ill., will accept hides in exchange for harness, sole, and lace leathers. This is an exceptionally good opportunity to get leather for home use.

Home Tanneries

Messrs. Kistler and Leash of Morganton, N. C., operate a large tannery. It would be well to get in touch with this firm. For additional information write the office of Beef Cattle and Sheep at West Raleigh, N. C.

WHERE THE LAUGH COMES IN By NAMLIG

Johnnie—"say" Pop, did you marry mommer while you were on a fishing trip.

Pop—"No! why?"

Johnny—"Cause I heard her tell Mrs. Peterson next door, that when she married you she caught a lobster."

Some Hungry

Old Lady—"Your voice sounds kind of hollow and empty like."

Appetite Pete—"I know that Mum, I'm talking from my stomach."

"$8 a Week and Costs"

It turns out sometimes that it costs more to not support your than to support her.

Buy Her a Brass Collar

A restaurant in Butler, Missouri, displays the following on a very prominent sign "Don't divorce your wife because she can't cook, Eat her and keep her for a pet."
