The people of the Community met at Johnson's Grove Church Tuesday morning and spent the day working at the cemetery.

There are still some Vass women who think life's greatest achievement is in getting the cake out of the pan without breaking it.

The man who is in politics for the good of the people usually considers his family the people.

Good looking girls are born, but a lot of good looking women are self-made.

It has been our observation that the man who attends to his own business is never out of a job.

We used to smell the beefsteak smell it and say: "Them were the good old days."

Some Vass auto drivers' idea of heaven is a sidewalk lined with people wearing their Sunday clothes and a street full of mud to drive through.

Still another reason they insist on wearing their skirts so short is because spanking isn't as fashionable as it used to be.

A Kentucky jury has decided that a mule can't have rheumatism. Then how's a mule going to tell when it's going to rain?

Maybe the reason some nations won't smoke the peace pipe is they are afraid of making the anti-tobacco crowd mad.

A lot of fellows leave the farm because they want to rise in the world without having to get up at 4 o'clock in the morning.

The most miserable failure any Vass man can make is to try to appear unconcerned when someone points out to him that he is growing bald.

Still another thing about paying taxes is it doesn't leave any money for your relatives to squabble over.

When you hear a Vass man say he feels like a 3-year-old, ask him whether he means a horse or a flivver.

The following kind words are from the Sandhill Citizen and are appreciated by the Pilot:

"Our neighbor, the "Pilot" of Vass, recently celebrated its six months birthday. The little paper is growing lustily and we are always glad to welcome its latest appearance."

Men of Zion City, Volilva's punk paradise, must wear skirts when they go in bathing. Volilva has the sort of mind that could find something immodest in an undraped sugar bowl.

The funniest thing we have heard recently is that London "drive" to collect sufficient money to buy false teeth for the poor.

French experts claim that handwriting may show delinquency. This is the same view that is held by a certain eight-year-old who got only 85 in an examination recently.

Dietitian says parsnips are chock full of calories. Maybe it's the taste of the calories we don't like.

When a man says he is through sowing his wild oats he sometimes forgets that he has yet to reap the harvest from them.

In Baltimore a boy was arrested for delivering a small piece of ice on Sunday to a woman who telephoned she was ill and needed it. Why not also arrest the operator who made the telephone connection, or for that matter the cop who was working on Sunday when he arrested the boy?

Prophecy has not been fulfilled. The country has the law, but the bootlegger has the profits.

Nowadays it seems a dress is something a girl puts on to call attention to herself.

That spiral effect in rolled down stockings sometimes makes us so dizzy we're afraid of taking a nose dive.

Former prohibition officers who know the ropes make the most successful bootleggers.

A man goes into a store, gets what he wants and walks out. A woman goes into a store and never walks out until—but, pshaw! what's the use?

Bergdoll may lose interest on, but it is scarcely expected he will lose interest in, about eight hundred thousand dollars.

John D. Rockefeller has recently visited the place where he made his first dollar. Maybe he thought he might be able to pick up another there.

Persons who look upon My Lady Nicotine as the worst form of Vamp will be considerably disgruntled over that recommendation given her by a Camden dentist, who states emphatically that tobacco is an excellent preservative for the teeth.

There are sixteen eggs in cold storage for every man, woman and child in the country. Anyone can have our share for the asking.

Not only Methodists, but the whole nation will be amazed at the swift power of the Christian Education Movement to provide the schools under its jurisdiction with the things they need. Southern Methodists are committed to the task and their slogan is, "We must, we can, we will."

Careful Mother—Johnny, if you eat any more cake, you'll burst.

Johnny—Well, pass th' cake and get outa th' way.

The third and last form of dyspepsia occurs most among the young, usually patients range anywhere from twenty years of age, exceedingly common occurrence that class of our community in indigent circumstances suffer from poverty who not only feel the pangs of hunger, but who are also protected either by wearing clothing against the inclemency of weather, this is the class who serve daily in winter free hospital dispensaries, low, thin, dejected, catenances, their spare boney hands and their tell the pitiful tale.

Nearly, if not quite all the symptoms that we find thus poor, may manifest themselves in children of wealthy parents necessarily from different causes, some of which commence with, hereditary developed by too much part of the indulgent parents; insufficient exercise, air, too rich and stimu-
