

LABOR'S ENDORSEMENT OF STACK WILL STAND

Union Leaders at Hamlet Assert That Their Action of May 13 was Taken Advisedly.

Special to the Observer
HAMLET, May 26.—Much excitement was created in political and labor circles here when an article appeared in the state papers signed by Felix Cannon, claiming to be chairman of the Allied Labor Council, and 11 other union men who claimed to represent certain labor unions, contradicting the endorsement made by the labor unions at their joint political meeting held here May 13, of the candidacy of Hon. A. M. Stack, of Monroe, for judge of the superior court, as announced by D. B. Freeman, secretary of the joint labor council.

The leaders of the organization have issued a statement in connection with this matter, the salient parts of which follow:

"He states that a meeting was held May 13 by a small body of union men and the endorsement was made against the wishes of those not present. It develops that he was present at the previous meeting when it was understood that the endorsements would be made May 13, and if he and his colleagues were opposed to endorsing a candidate for judge they should have attended the meeting. It was properly advertised and all union men invited. Looks rather radical not to attend a meeting and then criticize the action taken at the meeting.

"At the beginning of this political campaign it was the plan for each organization to send a committee to these meetings to represent their entire members. Each organization was represented at the meeting when the candidates were endorsed (Mr. Cannon failed to get the signatures of either members of these committees attached to his article). Whether Mr. Carson was in Shanghai or Chicago, and whether Cannon was in other parts of the country or in Russia, the candidates were endorsed by the committees from the various unions and he and a corps of other chairmen could not have prevented the action taken at the meeting May 13.

"The endorsements are not false, and it is safe to say that 85 per cent of the union men and workers of Hamlet will vote and support these candidates. Mr. Cannon states that he and his colleagues did intend that a candidate for judge be endorsed. Why not, Manno? It was the original intention and the purpose of the meeting to endorse a candidate for each office.

LINING UP FOR PHILLIPS

Marshville Citizens Publicly Announce Voluntary Support of the Soldier Candidate

Believing that it is the inescapable patriotic duty of fathers, mothers, brothers, and sisters, whose sons and brothers offered their lives as supreme sacrifices to "make the world safe for democracy," to avail themselves of opportunity to show gratitude and appreciation, acting under a consciousness that it would brand our declarations of patriotism during the world war as hypocritical and make us appear as unworthy descendants of patriotic ancestry to vote against a soldier candidate, other claims and qualifications being equal, we take this method of publicly expressing our purpose to support Mr. F. D. Phillips, the soldier candidate of Richmond county, for solicitor in the approaching Democrat primaries. This action is taken without knowledge of Mr. Phillips.

TO THE VOTERS OF MOORE CO.

I have had a lot of inquiries from people over Moore county as to my position on law enforcement.

I take this opportunity to say that if elected Sheriff of Moore county, I will endeavor to enforce the laws to the best of my ability. My past record in Moore county will convince the people that I am in favor of enforcing the prohibition laws in every section of the county and I believe in the same enforcement of all the laws of the state as long as they remain laws. EDGAR R. BROWN.

Vitamines Not a Cure-All

The present popular tendency to extol vitamines as a cure-all may be drawing to a close. The United States public health service reports that efforts during the year to discover the unidentified food substance whose absence from the diet causes pellagra have excluded two of the three known vitamines. The search for the missing element is being steadily narrowed.

GET READY FOR STATE FAIR

RALEIGH, June 1.—Now is the time for the county commissioners or the county farm agent of every county to begin consideration of the exhibit of farm products at the state fair this fall, for the fair authorities have so increased the premiums offered for these exhibits that it will be very much worth while to put them on. The new management of the fair association is laying special emphasis on the agricultural side of the fair, and is very much interested in getting as large a number of these exhibits as possible.

In order to attract more and better exhibits the Fair Association is offering $3,342.50 in prizes for this class of exhibits. The first prize will be $600 and the seventh prize is $100. In addition to these the exhibits which are declared meritorious by the judges will be awarded fifty dollar prizes. It will be seen, therefore, that the prizes offered will more than take care of the expenses incurred in making the exhibits.

Since the main object of the fair is to instruct those attending, and not for entertainment purposes only, the superintendent of this department, Prof. C. B. Williams, of the State College, has planned to award the premiums partly on the basis of their educational value. Thirty points will be allowed for the educational value of these exhibits. If the exhibits can be arranged so that it will show, for instance, the results of proper selection of seed corn on the quality and the yield of corn, the effects of spraying fruits, the result of the use of legumes and other things along this line, it will score thirty points as a starter towards the hundred points allowed for the perfect exhibit. Another thirty points will be allowed for field crops.

All exhibits will be allowed a space 16 by 32. Reservations of this space may be made at any time by simply writing the fair association at Raleigh. All of these exhibits must be made under the direction of the county agent or some authorized agent of the county commissioners. Since some action may be necessary on the part of the county board, those interested in having their county represented in these exhibits, should take the matter up with their respective boards at as early a date as possible.

Arrangements will be made to take care of as large a number of these exhibits as possible, for the fair would like to see every county represented.

Many a young fellow in this community is glad the war is over so he can again address a second lieutenant as "old timer."
