Mr. R. J. Works, of Kentucky, will address the people of this section at Cameron graded school building, on Monday evening, August 21st, at 8 o'clock, on one of the most vital questions of the hour:—Co-operative Marketing.

Mr. Works will not only tell you what Co-operation has done for Kentucky, but he will plainly show you what Co-operative Marketing means to every farmer.

We are counting on you attending this meeting and heartily extend this invitation not only to you but to your wife as well. Bring your neighbor with you.

UNTIL SEPTEMBER 1st

RALEIGH, Aug. 17.—An extensive drive for new members will be continued until September 1, the date set for the first delivery of cotton, by the North Carolina Cotton Growers' Co operative Association, it was announced at its headquarters today.

The sign-up drive during the first two weeks in August has been highly successful, and many hundreds of contracts were secured, it is stated, but it was impossible to cover the entire cotton section in so short a time.

General Manager U. B. Blalock is rapidly shaping up his selling organization and has already arranged for fifty warehouses to receive cotton for the Association. Seventy-five other receiving points will be established.

Chesley B. Howard, of Atlanta, Ga., recently named as sales manager for the North Carolina Association, was elected last week as general sales manager for the nine State Associations affiliated with the American Cotton Growers' Exchange, but he will have general supervision of the half million bales to be sold through the North Carolina Association.

Concentration warehouses with branch sales managers in charge, will be established at Charlotte and Greensboro. Arrangements are under way for storing cotton at Wilmington for export. Arrangements have already been made for storage facilities at Charleston port terminals.

A foreign sales office will be established at Liverpool, which will be under the direction of Mr. Howard. Agencies will be established in Germany, France and other foreign countries.

DEATH OF MRS. KIMBALL OCCURS FRIDAY MORNING

Mrs. Rebecca Kimball died Friday at 11 a. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ed. T. Stone in Sanford.

Mrs. Kimball had been ill for several months with dropsy. She resided in Vass, but had been at the home of her daughter for some time.

The interment took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the funeral being conducted by Rev. Walter M. Gilmore, and the remains laid to rest in the Jonesboro cemetery.

There is left to mourn her loss four daughters: Mrs. Jennie Ann Hussy, Mrs. Nannie Phipps, Mrs. E. T. Stone, all of Sanford, and Mrs. Silla Cavinness, of Georgia; four sons: Willie Kimball, of Sanford; Elisha and John Kimball, of Vass; and James Kimball of Rockingham; two sisters: Mrs. J. A. Warner, of Sanford, and Mrs. Jincey Godfrey, of Snow Camp, N. C.; and two brothers: Hinson Love, of Vass, and Pickett Love, of near Carthage.

She was a member of the Vass Methodist Church and was 63 years of age.

CLIPPINGS

The owner of Sweetheart Lake writes a spirited retort to the Vass Pilot about the piece beginning "Two carloads of nearly naked women drove into town Monday morning," which was copied in the Daily News. In part the lake's owner desposes and says: "As to whether lady bathers should or should not wear bathing suits that display their limbs, I being a mere man would not presume to express an expert opinion in this matter but I will say that the morals of the mothers & the daughters who have visited Sweetheart Lake are above reproach and I resent any insinuation to the contrary." Admirably put and, we have no doubt, doing no less than justice to the matrons and maids aforesaid.—Greensboro News.

LET THE WOMEN DO THE WORK

The Vass Pilot's correspondent at Cameron (she must be a real woman!) spared not in voicing her righteous indignation when, without invitation and without welcome, the quiet little town was treated to an exhibition of near-nudeness by some stray women. (Read the story for a more lucid getting of it.)

Now, then, it seems to us Cameron ought to know what to do. It should forthwith hold a town convention unanimously declare that correspondent mayor, clothed with power to appoint all other town officials including policemen. If she so desires, let her designate instead of the customary "billies," thick rubber paddles with suitable holes to insure blisters; let her specifically instruct her subordinates as to how they may administer treatments. In a word, let her mayorship have complete control of the peaceful village. Then let some shameless sea-cow roam in and learn just what the town will not stand for, and what she will not for quite a spell be able to sit upon.

Let the women do the work!—Harnett County News.

THE SANDHILL FAIR OF 1922

The Sandhill Fair is "entirely different." It makes its boast that it is a "Fair without a Midway and doesn't need one."

In other words it is a Fair with educational value and entertainment value without the hawkers, the ballyhoos, the fortune tellers, the hoochy-kootchy, the fakers and the freaks that will be found at other fairs.

It is a fair that the whole family can attend with perfect safety, profit by the splendid array of exhibits, be entertained every minute with clean, wholesome features, enjoy the best of music, mingle with their neighbors and go home really benefited by a day spent at the Sandhill Fair.

The Exhibits

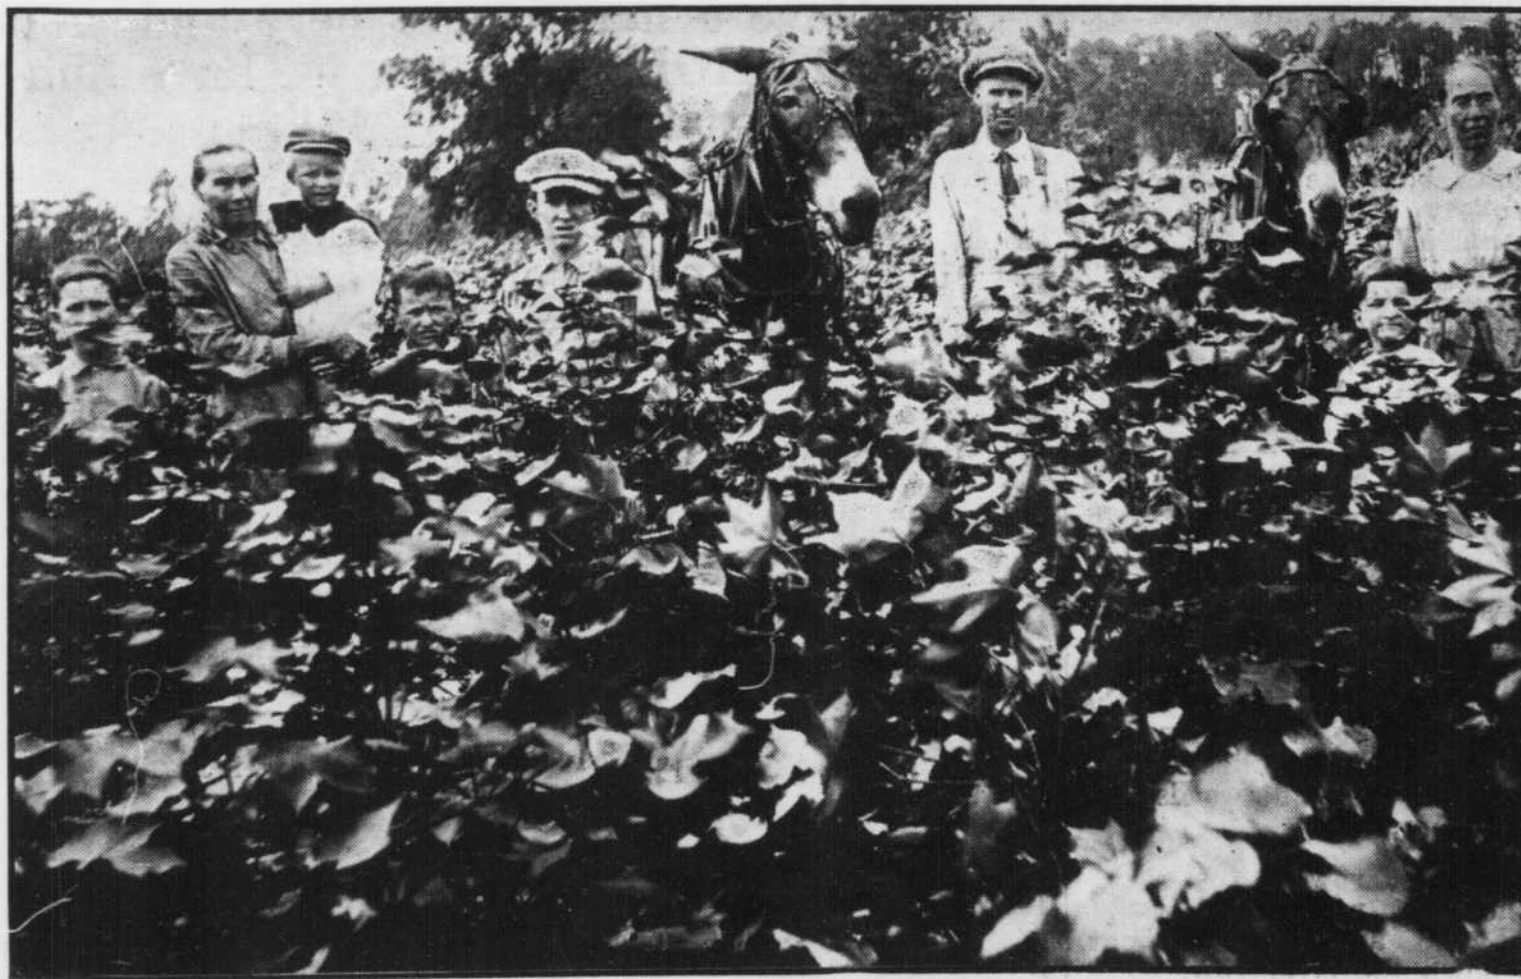

Because of the abundance and the general excellence of this year's crops, it is a foregone conclusion that Exhibit Hall will overflow with the good things which are grown and produced in this district.

Keen competition between the eight or ten communities who are holding fairs this year, assures a wonderful showing at the Community Booths and the unusual activities of our Home Demonstration Agent will result in the greatest exhibit of canned goods that has ever been seen here.

Live Stock

Whether your favorite swine is Berkshires, Poland, Chinas, Duroc Jerseys or any other breed, you will see the greatest Hog Show that has ever been seen in the South.
