PRINTING FOR THE MASONS

The Pilot has just finished a job of printing for the Masons. It is the report of the annual assembly of the grand council of the Royal and Select Masters. The publication is a pamphlet of about 70 pages, a fair proportion being rather intricate tabular work. As this is not the first time this shop has printed the annual report for this organization, it is apparent that the class of work done by the Pilot is acceptable, a matter, to tell the truth, that is right well known through this section.

BULLETIN ON PEACHES

A bulletin entitled "The Plum Curculio on Peaches and Its Control," has recently been issued by the North Carolina Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture. The bulletin has been prepared by Dr. R. W. Leiby and Mr. J. A. Harris, located at the State's field insect laboratory at Aberdeen, and gives an account of the habits of the curculio and recommendations for its control. This publication is based on the investigation of these two entomologists covering the years 1922 and 1923.

We are advised that copies of this bulletin will soon be mailed to peach growers. Extra copies may be secured by writing Dr. Leiby at Aberdeen, or from the editor of the Agricultural Department at Raleigh.

MANLEY

Miss Jeanette McCrae and Mr. George Allen, of Eureka, spent the week-end with Miss Eoline McMillan. Messrs. Dewey Bobbitt, Homer Walls, and Robert Byrd, of Asheley Heights, were visitors here Sunday.

Miss Mattie Wilson, who has been spending a few days with her parents, returned to Raleigh on Wednesday.

Messrs. Green and Barentine, of Cumnock, were visitors here Sunday.

Mr. A. J. Kieth and sons, Aubrey and Floyd, of Cameron, were Sunday visitors in Manley.

Misses Savage and Birch, and Messrs. Frank Riley and Luther Tapp, of Asheley Heights, visited the Misses Wilson Saturday night.

Mr. J. W. Blue and Miss Lillie Blue, of Carthage, visited Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Blue last Monday.

Mrs. R. E. Patterson spent Friday with her mother, Mrs. A. G. Keith, of Cameron, route 1.

Services will be held here by the Rev. M. D. McNeill on Sunday, April 13th, at 3:00 o'clock; Christian Endeavor led by Miss Cornelia Phillips at 7:30. Miss Phillips will tell about her experiences in the mountains of Kentucky. Everybody come.

NIAGARA

Mr. Augustus Abrams and wife, who spent a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. George McDermott, while enroute from Florida, have now departed for their home in Long Island, N. Y.

Mr. Chas. H. Davidson and wife, who have spent the winter in Orlando, Florida, arrived here the past week, and have leased rooms for a few weeks before going on to their home in Rochville Centre, Long Island, N. Y.

Rev. George Lefevre and sister, who have been guests at the Hazel cottage for the past few days, left on Monday morning for their home in Forest Glenn, N. Y.

Last Sunday morning service at the church were very interesting. The house was well filled and an excellent sermon was delivered by Rev. Lefevre; then helpful talks by the pastor, Rev. Davies. And we could not give too much comment on the musical programme; the regular choir was so ably assisted by Mr. Stevens and Mrs. E. W. Marble, that all who were not present missed a rare treat.

Mrs. H. M. Robertson and Mrs. H. E. Burgen, who have spent the winter in Florida, are guests in our village for a few days while enroute to their home in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

THE FAMILY GARDEN NECESSARY THIS YEAR

"The advent of the cotton boll weevil into North Carolina calls for more diversified farming and the growing of sufficient vegetables and fruits for home use. In the past the growing of vegetables has been neglected in eastern Carolina, but with the changing conditions many people are now giving more attention to this important phase of agriculture," says R. F. Payne, extension horticulturist for the State College of Agriculture.

Mr. Payne states that every farm home in North Carolina should have a home garden large enough to give a sufficient supply of vegetables for the table every day in the year. Vegetables form a very important part of the diet, and no meal is complete without some. Our bodies demand certain elements to keep them in good working order. If these elements are not supplied and in the right amounts, the penalty is poor health and high doctor bills.

"Children are not receiving their just and lawful birthright unless they are supplied with the necessary food for developing strong and healthy bodies," says Mr. Payne. "Many parents are willing to work early and late in order to give their children some of the advantages they didn't have, and yet they overlook the all-year garden, something that costs very little and gives a profitable and varied return.

"The surplus vegetables can be sold locally at a good profit. There is always a demand for good, fresh vegetables and they can easily be grown in the home garden. A regular and profitable trade can quickly be built up with the surplus, and thus a good cash crop is provided for practically every month in the year.

"The size of the home garden depends upon the size of the family and the amount of vegetables desired for local sales. Every garden should contain some of the following: Leaf crops—lettuce, cabbage, spinach, kale, parsley, beet tips, collards, turnip tops; Petiole crops—celery, rhubarb; Stem crops—asparagus, potatoes, kohlrabi; Bulb crops—onions; Root crops—carrots, turnips, beets, radishes, sweet potatoes; Fruit crops—tomatoes, egg plant, peppers, string beans, sweet corn, cucumbers, cantaloupes, watermelons, squash; Seed crops—beans, peas."

PLAY

Do you want to know "The Way To The Wishing Gate?" Then don't fail to see the play by that name at the Farm Life School Thursday, April 17, at 7:30 p. m.

The proceeds will go to the Dental Clinic.

Missionary Party

The most unique party of the season was given at Hotel Vass on the afternoon of April 1st, when Miss Lydia Auman entertained the Methodist Missionary society. Miss Auman, in clown suit and dunce cap, welcomed the guests at the entrance, and gave white dunce caps to the members of Circle two, the honorees, with instruction to wear them the entire afternoon. In the cloak room up stairs, hats were laid aside and caps donned, and the merriment began. The reception room was attractively decorated in pink and white, and a profusion of delicately colored pink and white arbutus gave a delightful breath of spring.

The hostess, assisted by Misses Mazie Rast and Eva Oldham, also in costume, carried out a number of contests in which Mrs. G. H. Simpson, Mrs. A. K. Thompson, Miss Bessie Cameron and Miss Georgia Conley were the winners. Each guest was called on to tell the most foolish thing she had ever done. Prizes were given for this. A member of Circle two was requested to sing a Chinese song, the words of which were "O Wa Ta Goo Siam," to be sung to the tune of America. (Try it). Miss Eva Oldham gave several humorous readings. Sandwiches, pickles and cocoa were served. Attractive favors were given, and they will be reminders of a most charming hostess who gave her guests an afternoon long to be remembered.
