The Easter program given by children of the Methodist Sunday School was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. The church was beautifully decorated with pines, dogwood, Easter lilies and other spring flowers. Perhaps the most effective number on the program was an exercise by eight boys, who erected a beautiful white temple with Christ and Faith as the Foundation and Service, Praise, Joy, and Love as the other parts of the building. The program was gotten up by Mrs. W. B. Graham, who is untiring in her work with the little folks.

The Presbyterian children enjoyed an egg hunt on the church grounds Monday morning. That afternoon the Methodist children with some invited guests from the Baptist Sunday School assembled at the Methodist church for their annual Easter fun. An Easter egg hunt is second only to a Christmas tree with the Vass kiddies, and it is worth a great deal to see their happy faces.

The Deacon Dubbs party gave their play in Pinehurst Tuesday evening, and after paying the Parent-Teachers Association their quota, had thirty-one dollars left. After the play, a delightful reception was held at the home of Mr. J. B. Cameron, in honor of the Vass people. Sandwiches and coffee were served by the hostess and Misses Rachel and Emeline Hanna.

At the meeting, each one reported on how she had invested her "talent," and it was found that not one had been buried. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Circle two met at the home of Mrs. A. K. Thompson, with twelve members in attendance. Mrs. E. B. Thompson was able to attend for the first time, and the other members were especially glad to have her present. After the business session, partners were found for a word building contest in which Mrs. W. D. Matthews and Mrs. S. R. Smith were found to be master builders. Smoke in the vicinity of the cotton mill attracted the attention of people on the streets Wednesday morning, and word was passed along that the cotton gin was on fire. It was found, however, that the smoke was coming from the light wire. A truck had run against an electric light pole, knocking it down and causing a short circuit which was responsible for the smoke. Fortunately, no damage was done to the buildings.
