

PINEHURST

It has been a rare treat to large numbers of people who have attended the polo games during last week and on Monday, April 21, which closed the second largest polo tournament for the spring season. Harvard, Yale, and Princeton were the college teams competing in these games with the two splendid teams at Fort Bragg playing two games under the leadership of Major L. C. Batson. These splendid college teams gave us some wonderful polo, and the games were witnessed by large enthusiastic crowds, each having large lists of "fans" as boosters. These splendid young college men entered into the games with zest but were true sportsmen and whether they won or lost their college yells were given with the same enthusiasm, and each game ended with cordial handshakes by the participants. Mr. James Tufts, of Pinehurst, was a member of the Harvard Polo Team, and it is needless to say the number of local Harvard fans exceeded the others. He was the guests of his parents during the week. The college teams and army men were guests at the Carolina and Holly Inn. They were accorded many social attentions during their stay, and were loud in their praise of Pinehurst.

Through the courtesy of the use of the Bragg teams polo ponies for the college teams games it was possible for the Pinehurst polo stables to equip the playing teams with the best mounts.

Mr. Gould Shaw, who played on the No. 1 Sandhill Polo teams, and who was the guest of Gould Shaw II. during the spring tournament, has returned to his home in Boston.

Mrs. George Hanna returned on Friday from the Fayetteville Presbyterian meeting at Fayetteville, April 15-18. Mrs. Hanna went as a delegate from the Woman's Auxiliary of Pinehurst. The meeting was fully attended and the splendid program carried out. Much business was transacted and extensive plans made for the new year. Mrs. Hanna was elected as one of the two delegates to represent the Fayetteville Presbyterian to the Synodical meeting at Tarboro in the fall. She was also on committee for place of meeting and made chairman of the Home Missions for the Presbyterian. We feel honored by the place given our delegates, and know Pinehurst was well represented.

On Tuesday the 22, Rev. Geo. Hanna and Mr. Fuller Currie went to Raeford for the three days session of the semi-annual meeting of the Fayetteville Presbytery, which is the largest Presbytery in the Southern Presbyterian church. The meeting is of much importance, and will be largely attended by a representative number of men in the Fayetteville district.

Major and Mrs. R. C. Balson are entertaining at a tea dance Wednesday afternoon from four to six, and a large number of Pinehurst people will go over for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Pyron visited in Hamlet Tuesday.

Mr. Jas. Craig returned from an extended trip to Ohio Saturday.

The many friends of Mr. Bruce Cameron are delighted to see him out again.

Easter Service

One of the most beautiful Easter services ever held in Pinehurst was held in the Community house under the auspices of the Presbyterian church Sunday morning from 10:30 to 12:00 o'clock.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of spring flowers; and every available space in the building was crowded with the eager audience, who came to this splendid Easter celebration service.

The following programme was given after which the beautiful communion service was held, after a most splendid talk by Rev. Hanna:

Song by choir; prayer, Rev. Hanna; Bible reading, Idel McKenzie; song, primary class; welcome, Catherine Cole; Bible verse, Eleanor Cameron; reading, "Winter's Gone," Leonard Lax; reading, "The Risen Savior," Robert Shaw; song, Mrs. Hensley's class; reading, Cleata Needham; exercise, the meaning of Easter, primary class; song, by the choir; reading, Allen Vroom; reading, Stanly Lax; song, "At Easter Dawn, girls; reading, Levora Sally; reading, Bessie Cameron; song, by the choir; exercise, Easter offerings, Mrs. Hensley's class; duet, Bessie Cameron and Margaret Fry; reading, Lee Williams; song, six young ladies; reading, Loula Gouger; song, by the choir; reading, New Year Sadler; offering; solo, Rachal Hanna; talk, Rev. Hanna; song; benediction.

Rotarians' Convention at Pinehurst

Rotarian is the word in Pinehurst for the first three days of the week, and our beautiful little city has on gala attire for the occasion to greet the thousand delegates who are attending the conference of Rotarians, which is meeting here Tuesday and Wednesday, April 22 and 23.

This is the 38 district convention and is composed of portions of North Carolina lying west of the Eastern boundaries of Rockingham, Guilford, Randolph, Mountgomery, and Richmond counties, and the entire state of South Carolina. Hon. Paul W. Schenick, of Greensboro, is governor of the district.

A very full program will be carried out and much will be done for the visitors by the local committee. The guests will be entertained at the Carolina and Holly Inn hotels, and a special program will be given them Wednesday afternoon at the fair grounds in which horse races, mule races, stunts and mule polo, in which many of their number will take part.

The greatest and most vital subject which will be discussed at this meeting will be at the Wednesday afternoon program, which will be held just before the adjournment of this remarkable meeting. The subject will be "Boys' Work," and the following topics will be discussed:

(a) The boy—Floyd Rogers, Charlotte; (b) The boy survey—Houston Hiatt, High Point; (c) the Knot-Hole club—Joel Bailey, Greenwood, S. C.; (d) Boys Week—Isaac Andrews, Spartanburg, S. C.; (e) Rotary and Boy Scouts—Charlie Turner, Statesville; (f) Rotary and the juvenile court—Hamilton C. Jones, Charlotte; 2:30 p. m. Address—"The evolution of the Rotary Ideal"—E. Leslie Pigeon, past president of Rotary International, Winnipeg, Canada.

Revival Services at Pinehurst

Plans are going steadily forward for the revival services to be held at Pinehurst June 1 to 15.

Rev. Geo. Hanna, who will have charge of these services, will be assisted by Rev. Leonard Gill, Synodical evangelist, of Charlotte, who will do the preaching during these series of services.

A large tent will be used and Mr. Bruce Cameron is already beginning to organize a large chorus choir who will furnish the music.

eron, won the prize at the county commencement in a reading in which she impersonated "The Gypsy Flower Girl."

Messrs. J. D. McLean and E. L. Ray were Cameron delegates to Presbytery at Raeford this week.

Misses Crissie and Vera McLean, Cattie McDonald, Annie Borst, Mrs. Lula Muse, Mrs. Jewel Hemphill, Miss Elizabeth Bunn, Mrs. M. D. McNeill, Miss Lula McPherson, Mrs. M. McL. McKeithen, Mrs. G. S. Cole, Mrs. H. P. McPherson and the correspondent went to Carthage Monday afternoon to hear an address given to the Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church by Mrs. Arnelia McGilvary Orr, for many years a resident of Statesville, but whose future home will be in Texas. Mrs. Orr is a daughter of that consecrated man, the Rev. Daniel McGilvary, who, when a young man left this country about the year of 1856, as a missionary to Siam. Like her father, Mrs. Orr is a consecrated Christian woman. Talks were made by Mrs. Seawell and Mrs. Clark, wife of Rev. Mr. Clark of Carthage. Miss Frances McKeithen sang a solo with piano accompaniment by Mrs. R. G. Dalrymple. Mrs. Orr's address was a heart-to-heart talk, beautiful, touching, and full of faith. At the close, all were invited into the ladies' rest room and were served with hot coffee, with a variety of sandwiches and mints. Mrs. McPherson and wiches and mints. Mrs. H. P. McPherson and the correspondent were school mates of Mrs. Orr at the home of Rev. Martin McQueen where his wife, Mrs. Kate Robertson McQueen, was the beloved teacher.
