John Lancaster, of Sanford, spent Sunday with his people here.

E. J. Woodard, of Aberdeen, was a business visitor in town Tuesday.

Miss Eva Oldham came home from Fayetteville the first of the week to spend a few days.

Mrs. Mary Thomas, of near Cameron, spent a part of last week at the home of her son, J. R. Thomas.

Mr. Thomas, who has been sick for several months, is able to walk around in the house some.

Mrs. Alton W. Wilson and little daughters, Marie and Madge, of Washington, D. C., who are spending some time in the community, were guests of Mrs. W. H. Keith, Saturday night. Mrs. Wilson was at one time teacher of the Moore Hill school, and has many friends in this section.

Mrs. J. W. Atkinson and Thomas Keith Atkinson, of Southern Pines, spent Saturday night with Mrs. Atkinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Keith.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lambeth, of Sanford, were recent visitors in town.

Prof. and Mrs. W. D. Matthews and children visited relatives in Sanford Sunday afternoon.

We gladly welcome to our town Miss Grace Graves, of Cass, West Virginia, who has come to Hotel Vass to enjoy the Carolina sunshine for a while. Miss Graves received a regular West Virginia greeting of snow, but the sunshine soon appeared, and we hope that she will find our climate exactly to her liking.

Mrs. N. A. Townsend, of Dunn, was a caller at the home of Mrs. G. H. Simpson Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Byrd, of Pinehurst, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Keith.

Rev. D. Monroe, Dr. J. E. Flow and Misses Frances Blue, Grace Graves and Loula Eastwood visited friends at Flora Macdonald College, Red Springs, Monday.

Mrs. D. A. Smith, who was called to her home in Manteo about three weeks ago on account of the illness of her father, became quite ill last week, and was carried to a hospital in Norfolk. She underwent an operation for appendicitis on last Thursday, and at the last report was getting along nicely. Her address is Room 211, Sarah Leigh Hospital, Norfolk, Va. Her father, Mr. Westcott, is improving, but is still in the hospital.

Robert Taylor, of Newton, spent Friday night with relatives at Hotel Vass. Mrs. J. S. Lancaster returned to Newton with him on Saturday to be with her daughter, Mrs. Taylor, through an operation on her throat.

Mrs. Lillian Foreman, of Roxboro, is spending some time at the home of her brother, G. H. Simpson. Mrs. Foreman has sent out cards announcing that she is prepared to do up-to-date dressmaking and to make covered buttons. Mrs. Foreman's work has the beauty and style that only a real modiste can attain, and we feel sure that those who patronize her will be pleased.

The Sunday evening service at the Vass Presbyterian church brought to a close an eight-day series of revival meetings.

Services were held each morning and evening, and the attendance was good, especially at the evening hour. The business houses of the town closed at 7 o'clock in order that business might not interfere with the evening worship.

Dr. J. E. Flow, evangelist, of Lewisburg, West Virginia, arrived in time for the first service, and the people weaver not long in learning that to hear him was a great privilege. Dr. Flow is a man who knows his Bible as few people do, and his sermons are messages of true spiritual worth.

Dr. Flow is assisting Rev. Mr. Monroe in a series of meetings at Lakeview this week.

Joint Will of Pair Gives Estate to Each.
Spartanburg, S. C., Jan. 12.—An unusual document on file in Spartanburg county was disclosed today when a joint will—that of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Blackwell, of Inman—was probated. Blackwell died at Inman, December 27 and the estate fell to his widow.

The will between the two, each bequeathing all property to the other, provided that, upon the death of the second the estate was to be divided equally among nine children.
