

CAMERON

I am pleased to acknowledge the following announcement from the Raleigh stork, clad in a brand new messenger's uniform: Just arrived! Albert Lee, Jr. Born March 9, 1927, to Dr. and Mrs. A. L. O'Briant, Mary Elizabeth Hospital.

Miss Lucile Loving spent a night of last week with her brother, Charles Loving at Lelington.

Rev. M. D. McNeill filled his appointment at the Presbyterian church Sunday and preached from the subject, "Purity in Life."

Miss Mollie Reed who is in training at Hamlet hospital visited home folks for a few days last week.

Mesdames M. McL. McKeithen, J. M. Guthrie, J. A. McPherson and Miss Davis spent a day last week in Fayetteville.

Mrs. Addie Allen, on Rt. 2, was in town Saturday.

Born, March 11, to Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bumpas, a daughter, Susie Gray.

Mrs. H. D. Tally and Mrs. W. G. Parker were visitors Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alice Blue, and her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Cameron, of Raeford.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Frank Cameron, of Rt. 1, were callers Sunday afternoon of Miss Vera McLean.

J. C. Muse and Jess Howard came down from Durham for the week end, but J. C. kept on to Darlington, S. C.

Mrs. D. B. Teague and son, David, of Sanford, visited the family of Rev. and Mrs. M. D. McNeill Sunday and attended services at the Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snipes, of Sanford, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Snipes Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Muse and R. C., Jr., of Hamlet, were in town Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Holt and children, of Sanford, visited the families of J. C. Loving and Mrs. Rogers Sunday.

Come and hear some regular niggah singing that can beat the white folks to a frazzle, at the Coontown minstrel March 18th, 15 and 25 cents.

Mrs. Robert Boaz and son, Russell, Mrs. Hall, of Yadkin, Miss Ethel Boaz were dinner guests Monday of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Boaz.

If one should like to see the kind of grist mill the Indians used for grinding their corn while en route from one hunting ground to another, call at Cameron Post Office.

Mrs. J. W. Cameron and children spent a part of last week with Mrs. W. H. Core on Rt. 1.

Flora Mae McFayden, one among our attractive young girls of Cameron, who attends the Apalachian State Normal, is captain of the basketball team, that has won the Southern championship. They have played ten games and won them all. They played Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina.

The Womans' Auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. E. Phillips. Hope next week to get a full account of the meeting at the hospitable home of Mrs. J. E. Phillips.

Mrs. A. W. Hayes, of Raleigh, visited her sister, Mrs. J. W. Cameron, last week.

The John McNeill Society met last week with Miss Frances Matthews, with Andrew Muse Hemphill as leader.

See how a negro hails the coming of death with joy at the Coontown Thirteen Club.

Rev. M. D. McNeill preached at Manley Sunday afternoon and was accompanied by M. D. McLean.

Mrs. Laura Rogers is spending a few days with her children at Sanford and Broadway.

Miss Frances Matthews spent the week end in Goldsboro.

W. M. Wooten and Mrs. Donald McDonald were called to Norfolk Monday by the sad intelligence of the death of their younger brother, Charles Wooten. The interment took place in Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. D. W. McNeill was called Saturday to the bed side of her niece, Mrs. Heustis, of Clio, S. C., who was reported seriously ill. Mrs. Heustis was formerly Miss Kitty May Snipes, of Cameron.

The Merry Makers met last week with Miss Mabel Muse. The decorations were suggestive of March. Suspended from the piano that was banked with flowers, were strings. Each guest was asked to pull a string which they did, and found on the end of the string a kite on which was written a fortune. This proved to be quite interesting. After some future business was discussed the hostess served fruit, tello and cake.

Come and hear a typical negro sermon at the Coontown minstrel, March 18th.

The correspondent was a guest Sunday at an elegant dinner beautifully served at the home of Prof. and Mrs. J. Clyde Kelly. In the afternoon we visited at the home of D. D. Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Ever Kelly and family and Miss Kate Kelly on Carthage Route.

D. D. Kelly is confined to his room, crippled with rheumatism. He enjoys seeing his old friends and loves to talk over old times. He reads the News and Observer, The Pilot, the Presbyterian Standard and other papers. Miss Kate Kelly is in her 82nd year. She has not walked a step in 50 years. Her mind is bright and active and she is quite cheerful and like her brother, enjoys seeing old friends who remind her of the long ago.

Quite a number of friends and relatives from Cameron attended the funeral of Hon. Robert L. Burns, of Carthage, on Monday.

Great, and good men and women are fast passing away. Death is ever present with us, and still we can not get accustomed to it. Were it not for the hope we have in immortality, life would not be worth living. Some few years ago I remember hearing Hon. Robert Burns, of Carthage, deliver a political speech in the Cameron school building. He took for his subject: "Except these abide in the ship, ye can not be saved." I knew then that he was a Bible student.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cameron and children, with their sister, Mrs. Blanche Coore Hays, of Raleigh, spent Sunday with the family of Mrs. W. H. Coore on Rt. 1.

Come to the Coontown minstrel, March 18th and hear Bill Muse sing K-K-Katy. Come and see and old time niggah dance at the Coontown minstrel, March 18th.

Coontown Minstrels.

March the 18th, the tenth grade of Cameron high school will present the "Coontown Minstrel." This promises to be a delightful entertainment, because quite a number of the talented people of the community are assisting the 10th grade in these productions. There will be plenty of music, and many new jokes. Bring a friend and come prepared for an evening of fun. Admission 15 and 25 cents.

"Home Ties" at White Hill School. On March 25th, at 7:30 p. m., a play, "Home Ties," will be given in the White Hill school auditorium.
